

Inter-American Center Opens Parley Tonight

Speeches, Panel Discussions Are Included

SENATOR THEODORE FRANCIS GREEN of Rhode Island, member of the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate, will highlight tonight's program as the Inter-American Conference convenes in the presence of more than 2,000 diplomats, statesmen, teachers and business men in the auditorium of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

George Howland Cox, Director of the University's Inter-American Center, will act as general chairman of the conference, which will include speeches and panel discussions of the question "Can the United States Retain Latin American Trade and Cultural Relations against German, Italian, and Japanese Competition?"

Also on the program tonight, of which Dean Elmer Louis Kayser will be chairman, are speeches by G. Grant Mason, Jr., member of the United States Civil Aeronautics Authority, and Max O'Rell Tritt, member of the United States Maritime Commission. A panel discussion will follow the speeches, with Albert W. Atwood, financial writer, James C. Corlies, professor of Inter-American economics at the University, Roy T. Davis, president of National Park College and former minister to Panama, and Frederick William Wile, of the Evening Star staff, taking part.

A group of students who are members of the International Students Society, under the direction of Prof. Alan Delbert, Adviser to Students from Foreign Countries, will act as ushers at the sessions, which will be continued tomorrow and Thursday. The group includes: B. Bilsborough, Lewis Frazier, Charles Hamm, and Jack McMillen tonight; Otto Dekom, Robert Doyle, Harold Midtiff, Hendrik Vletoer and Bruce Mallory, Wednesday evening; and Harry Arnett, Lister Beval, Joseph Newlin, Edward Fretz, and Roy McNeill, Thursday evening.

Sullivan and Miller Head Food Drive

ALICE MILLER and John Sullivan were appointed co-directors of the 1938 Food Drive by Cap Gardner, president of the Student Council, and the appointments were confirmed by the editor of The Hatchet, John Daugherty, last night.

In making the appointments, Cap Gardner stressed the point that he had made the appointments after contacting every political group on the campus and after he had conferred with Jane Ramseyer, past co-director of the Food Drive.

He also said that he hoped policies might be forgotten and that all might contribute toward the helping of the poor during the Christmas season.

Collections will be made for the drive at the next "Round Robin" tea dance of the Interfraternity Council.

The Christmas Food Drive to give food baskets to needy families was inaugurated here in 1933, and has become an annual event. Approximately 200 families have been helped each year.

Gifts of money and clothing as well as food also are accepted and distributed. All University organizations are invited to support the Food Drive with whatever contributions they can make.

Staff appointments will be made this week and will be announced in The Hatchet.

Riding Club Plans Rides In Moonlight

A MOONLIGHT ride this evening at Four Corners Stables will high note the program of the Riding Club this week. Those attending the ride will meet in front of Bldg. D at 7 p.m.

The group rides will take place as usual this week, the advanced group riding Friday morning at Bradley Farms, the intermediates riding Saturday afternoon at Russell's Riding Stables, and the beginners riding Sunday morning at Argyle Stables.

As a substitute for the regular bi-weekly meeting, the club will attend the Fort Myer horse show Dec. 14.

At a business meeting Wednesday better organization of the club was discussed. Service in the way of typing or telephoning was asked for, and the following committee chairmen were named: Advanced group committee, Catherine Stewart and Lester Alexander; Intermediate group, Edward Turro; beginners, Henrietta Parker; social committee, Jean Marshall; and posters committee, Vick Reeser.

Many Alumni Win National Prominence

RETURNS FROM the recent November elections show that George Washington alumni captured nine prominent offices, losing but one.

In Missouri, Senator Bennett Champ Clark, L. B. 1914 and a member of the Board of Trustees, was re-elected for a six-year term. In California, State Senator Culbert L. Olson, L. B. 1901, was elected Governor of his State, the first Democrat to hold that office in more than forty years. While at George Washington, Olson worked his way through law school as correspondent for a Utah paper.

The following graduates and former students of the University were elected to Congress for the states indicated:

Democrats—Stephen W. Gambrill, L. B. 1895, L. L. M. 1896, Maryland; Francis Eugene Walter, A. B. 1919, Pennsylvania; Butler Block Hare, A. M. 1910, South Carolina.

CHARLES E. CORKER and Leonard A. Wilson will represent the University in the Anglo-Irish debate tomorrow night at 8:15 in Gov. 1. William Thomas Williams and William A. Beers, members of the British team, will uphold the negative of the question, "Resolved that the British Empire is an obstacle to world peace."

Corker was active in debate for a year at Stanford University, and since he has been at the University has participated in Cue and Curtain and Intercollegiate debate. He is a member of the University Bank and Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debate fraternity. At present, he is employed in the office of Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho.

Wilson was active in debate at Long Beach Junior College, Calif., and in '35 and '37 was chief clerk of the Nevada State Legislature. He was employed as Secretary of the Nevada State Democratic Committee in 1936. He is now president of the University Debate Council and a member of the Student Congress.

William Thomas Williams, an English debater, attended the University of Wales and the University of London where he obtained a degree in arts, philosophy, and Hebrew. He is now pursuing the Bachelor of Divinity degree at the University of Wales. He is a member of the Union Debating Society, the Student's Union Council, Student's Cosmopolitan Club, and National Union of Students. He is also Student Christian Movement representative at the South Wales Baptist Theological College.

Mr. Williams is especially interested in politics, social and ambulatory work, and the part played by Christian life and teaching. He has addressed numerous public meetings and congregations on matters of religious and political interest.

The second member of the Anglo-Irish team, William A. Beers, attended the University of Dublin where he obtained the Bachelor of Arts degree and the Bachelor of Laws degree. He is secretary of the Dublin University Law Society, Congress secretary of the Irish Student's Association. He is also auditor of the College Historical Society, vice-president of the Irish Student's Association and general secretary of the Irish Student's Association.

Besides his many college activities, Mr. Beers has also been active in radio work. He has been responsible for the organization and production of some 40 radio broadcasts from the Irish broadcasting stations.

Tickets for the debate may be obtained at the department of public speaking office. Because of the limited seating capacity, those interested are urged to apply early.

High Honor Extended Scholars

THE HIGHEST academic honor possible for undergraduates to receive came to eight seniors last week when they were elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Those who have maintained the high scholastic average necessary for membership in the society, and who have shown also in the opinion of the Phi Beta Kappa faculty members, high qualities of character, general promise, and scholarly ideals are Jack Allee, Eugene Allen, Everett Bellows, Virginia Dawson, Thomas Dowd, Marie McNeese, Anna K. Molster, and Esther Yanovsky.

Future Distinction Predicted

The students were selected according to Prof. George Henning, president of the University chapter, not only on the basis of the mere quantitative requirement of having a 3.25 average on 90 hours of work in liberal subjects but also on "whether their character and scholarship seemed to prognosticate future cultural distinction."

Jack Allee is an English major in the School of Education and expects to teach, while Eugene Allen, also majoring in English, plans to be a minister. He is now president of Phi Eta Sigma, of which all of the men elected to Phi Beta Kappa were also members. According to Dr. Wood Gray, secretary of Phi Beta Kappa, the recognition of scholarship early in the collegiate career by the freshman honoraries was probably influential in encouraging the students to higher achievement. Likewise all of the women, with the exception of Esther Yanovsky, who took her first

The first meeting of the Association will be held the evening of December 12 at the Law School. Justice Oscar Lühring, of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, will speak on the new Federal rules of procedure.

Selected by the Dean's Council of the Law School (from among a group which does not include seniors, the latter being left free for Law Review and Moot Court work and preparatory for bar exams) on the basis of scholarship, personality and other characteristics of leadership, three students have been honored with appointment as officers of the Student Bar Association.

Council's Budgeting Method Criticized

Cue & Curtain Group Ends Hibernation

CAMPUS DRAMA showed its first real signs of life this semester at the Cue and Curtain meeting Wednesday, when approximately 70 students took an active part in preparing three plays for immediate presentation.

Present plans, according to Production Manager Ward McCabe, call for the production of three short plays on the same evening, to be presented on a temporary stage in Government 1 on a no-charge basis. This plan is expected to stir up student interest in the activity, and to give as many members as possible a chance to participate actively. The plays selected are: "Only the Birds," "Criss Cross," and "She Was Only a Farmer's Daughter." The date of presentation has not yet been decided on, but it is announced that the program will definitely be given before the Christmas holidays.

About forty prospective thespians tried out before a board consisting of McCabe and Student Directors Eugene Lerner, Pauline Mossman and Lucy Ohler.

Selected for parts in the first three plays were: Eleanor Sherburne, Betty Green, Marjorie Beall, Harold Minor, Robert Linehan, Muriel Merleman, Barbara Schmidt, Gene Crowe, Eugene Lerner, Rita LaCombe, Betsy Yates, John Kendrick, Kenneth Sheibel, Ann Petersen, Amy Hellman, Jean Duke, Grant Sheck, Lloyd Edwards, Bill Coburn, Jack Shulman, Doris Cunningham and John Daugherty.

Training of the casts will be in the hands of the student directors under the supervision of Floyd Sparks, who will be in general technical charge of production. Thirty other members signified desire to work on makeup, publicity and production staffs.

Survival Questioned
Center of a year-long controversy on its possibility of survival, Cue and Curtain now presents its first activity since the production of "The Whitehead Boy" last December, which was immediately followed by the resignation of the director and the withdrawal of University financial support. The second semester of last year, and the first two months of this semester were spent in efforts to reorganize as a functioning group, in the face of general charges of political maneuvering and the continuing

Campus Says "Yes" For Gossip Column

IN ANSWER to a query from the Board of Editors in last week's Hatchet, "Do students want a gossip column?" numerous letters in favor of the column have besieged the editor, and a petition also in favor, circulated around the campus, received 358 signatures.

The most caustic comment received was the following:

"To the Editor:
The Hatchet Gossip Column smells. In fact, it is lousy or worse. I will write you a good column if you wish to give your paper some class."
Marvin Summers.

Campus leaders, questioned as to their opinions as to the advisability of having the column, commented as follows:

ORGANIZATION of the Student Bar Association of the George Washington University Law School, instituted this year, has been completed, with the naming of officers and members of the Executive Committee and the outlining of the program for the year.

Student Council Appropriation Is Questioned

By Frank Ford Burnet

THE BADLY-MUDDLED drama situation, which has begun to clear up as far as Cue and Curtain is concerned, became bogged down again last week in a welter of charges by several drama groups regarding the Student Council's $350 appropriation to the Theater Board.

Most of the dissatisfaction was expressed over the organization of the theater supervisory group and the allotment method attached to the Student Council's appropriation of $350 for all drama production on campus.

Make 3 Charges

The Symphony Club and the Literary Club, through their presidents, made the following charges:

1. The proposed "board" has never met, and therefore has no authority to speak for member groups.

2. Betsy Yates has never been named chairman of the board by a majority of the groups.

3. Neither Miss Yates nor the Student Council was justified in providing for distribution of the $350 without consulting the concerned member groups.

4. Member Groups

Groups which were to have been members of the board include the Symphony Club, Literary Club, Cue and Curtain, and Orchestras.

Various criticisms of the board and the Student Council were made in statements to The Hatchet and letters to the editor. (See page 2).

Meantime, the board achieved its first legal status last week when Chairman DeWitt Bennett of the Student Life Committee extended provisional recognition to the body, pending submission of a formal constitution.

Yates Recognized

Bennett said the recognition had been given to Miss Yates as "board chairman." He said he had no idea when the board might meet, and (See "Council's" Page 4)

Publication Problem Is Pondered

WHETHER to submit to the direct supervision of the University Administration or to publish a magazine without full authorization of the President's Office was the subject of a heated discussion last Friday during the monthly business meeting of the Literary Club.

The problem, which was brought up early in the evening by Norman Rose, president of the organization, centers around the proposed publication of a literary magazine for the University.

The hope of the Board of Editors to publish the first issue without a general "censorship" by the Administration was crushed when University authorities last week made it clear that in order to maintain a distinct standard of propriety, the responsibility for the magazine's content must rest with an approved authoritative source.

Responsibility Not Forced

Unwilling to force the club's faculty advisers—Douglas Ement, Martha Gibbon, and Courtland Baker, the latter two of whom were present at the meeting, to assume full responsibility, the members recalled the fate of a previous campus literary organization which also sponsored a magazine. At that time blame for a particular article rested on one of the group's advisers and caused a certain amount of ill-feeling.

Various suggestions were discussed. (See "Publication" Page 4)

Students Vie In Collection Contest

STUDENTS in the Modern European History Proseminar are now engaged in a contest in the collection of major varieties of paper, for the largest collection of which Mr. H. E. Robinson of the Empire Paper Co. of Philadelphia is offering a choice of Shepherd's Historical Atlas or Goode's Geographical Atlas.

The contest is incident to their study of the detection of forgery in historical documents through the paper on which they are written. Dr. Lowell J. Ragatz, director of the course, explained that the authenticity of a manuscript can often be determined by whether the date on the document and the type of paper on which it is written agree. He pointed out that several major cases of forgery in historical documents have been discovered by the fact that the paper on which they were written was not in existence at the time of the date given on the document.

Basketball Outlook Not Bright As Jack Butterworth Is Disabled

● DESPITE THE FACT that only one regular, Tommy O'Brien, was lost from the Colonial basketball squad, the outlook for the season at this point is far from bright.

Butterworth's Lung Collapses

With only a few days remaining before the opening game with Ohio State, Jack Butterworth, who starred for the Buffs last season, is temporarily out with a minor lung injury. Jack, who figures to be an important cog in the machine this season, complained of feeling sick during practice early last week, and was immediately taken to the hospital, where X-rays revealed that the bottom of his lung had collapsed. He was ordered to rest, and consequently has not donned a uniform since then. Whether or not he will be able to play at all in the opening game is doubtful.

In addition to this, Lou Veltre, one of the more promising of the new additions to the squad, will also be out of action for a short time. He suffered a badly bruised shoulder during practice last week and although he has been in uniform, he has not taken part in any scrimmaging, in order to give his shoulder a chance to heal thoroughly.

Faris Resumes Practice

To counteract these blows to the Colonial hopes, the remainder of the squad has been functioning very well. Bob Faris, who is playing his last season for the Buff squad, has finished his football practicing, and is now out regularly with the basketball men. His play to date, although a trifle ragged because of the short time he has been practicing, gives indication of being a big help to the Colonials during the coming season.

Meet Ohio State

The Ohio State quint, whom the Colonials defeated last year, will be the opponents for the Buff's opening game. The Buckeyes, who have a squad returning almost intact from last season, are expected to have one of the best teams in the Big Ten conference this year, and all indications point to a severe test for the Colonial quintet on December 10.

Frosh Quint Rounding Into Shape

● HAVING HAD his squad of "sky-scrapers" for at least half of them tower well over six feet in height, our practicing for three weeks, Coach Arthur "Otis" Zahn is gradually rounding them into shape.

New Men Look Good

Pat Deming, a student from Utah, has been showing up as a fine prospect with his passing and shooting, especially overhead shots. Zunic, a Pennsylvania forward, looks good in the scoring department. Rivkin, Brief, Mark, and Reiff, all of New York; Gilham and Jones, Indiana boys, and Pierre Hartman, six foot five inch center from Pa., are also demonstrating their ability on the hardwood courts.

Lusby Drops Out

Lusby, former Eastern player and all-star, dropped out due to studies, and Roy McNeil, star Roosevelt High player remains to carry the District burden.

The coming season schedule has not been completed, but fans are sure to get many glimpses of Zahn's frosh quint, as several of their contests will be played as preliminaries to the varsity home games.

From This Corner

by JACK SHULMAN

● WE ARE primarily at this University to study. However, that is not the only thing we get out of college life.

Besides the "pursuit" of knowledge we balance the scale with extra-curricular activities, bull-sessions, "coke"-sessions, dances, and viewing athletic contests.

It is with this last item that we are primarily interested. Though most people say the quality of your team is not important, when you look back at it all, I am inclined to believe that while perhaps it may not be important in relation to some things, most students love to brag about the superiority of their teams over other universities. It is a thing you can't justify; it exists.

As the football season unfolded with its rather disappointing results, I myself held off my friends outside of the University with the idea of the glory that awaits George Washington when the basketball season rolls around. During the past few years the quints representing this University have been a great credit and have shot this same University high into the upper strata of inter-collegiate basketball ratings.

We are now on the threshold of an approaching basketball season and with the great need of having to have some team in this University to brag about, I raise a fervent prayer that Jack Butterworth improve rapidly, that we somehow or other defeat Ohio State if Jack doesn't play, and that all these new sophomores develop like those in the past have.

Then, by gosh, we will have something to brag about.

Colonials Rank Fourth Says McCall

By Tom McCall

● CLEMSON, with the best of defensive record, and Mississippi boasting the finest offense, head the list of football teams that played George Washington University this season. On the basis of won and lost ratings, the Colonials rank number four in the ten team list, with a final standing of five victories, and four defeats.

Although Clemson has played two games less than the Rebels, the Tigers must be given top rating, with a season record of seven wins, one loss, and one tie.

Until last Saturday afternoon, Mississippi seemed the stronger of the two. But Tennessee's crushing 47-0 triumph over the Rebels, justifies placing Ole Miss in second place. The Vols had previously beaten Clemson 20-7 earlier in the season, Mississippi won nine games, and lost two, the other defeat being administered by Vanderbilt in the final 25 seconds of the game on a long pass.

Looking further down the list, in this order comes Bucknell, George Washington, Butler, West Virginia, Colorado, Kansas, Davis and Elkins, and Furman. Mississippi rolled up 232 points in 11 games for an offensive average of 21 per game, while Clemson was best on goal line defense, allowing their opponents only 56 points in 9 games. The Tigers held their rivals scoreless in four of their seven victories.

Maryland To Meet Muralists

● HIGH SPOT of the Intramural season is the touch-football game scheduled with the University of Maryland for an as yet undecided day this week. Intramural Director Vinnie DeAngelis announces that all arrangements for the game have been made, except for the fixing of the time, and that this game, of great interest to students of two schools whose relations have been characterized by keen athletic rivalry for so many years, will be played according to schedule.

Most of Program Begins This Week

The rest of the Intramural contests will also be started this week, with the exception of basketball. The basketball series is necessarily postponed because of the intensive use to which the gym is being put by varsity, freshmen and interfraternity squads. Court games will begin immediately after the Christmas holidays. The tennis matches, forced indoors by the weather, will be completed at one of the local high school gymnasiums. Intramural swimming will get under way Friday and Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. pool. The ping-pong tournaments are at present in full swing, featuring competition between the teams of the frosh, soph, and junior-senior groups. All first-round matches must be played or forfeited by December 10.

Possibility of inter-collegiate intramural competition with nearby colleges was also hinted by DeAngelis.

Other Colleges Interested

The Intramural director stated that he has received communications from the intramural departments of several of the schools, including Virginia, Maryland, Johns Hopkins, St. John's of Annapolis, and American University, inquiring into the possibility of arranging such competition.

Indications at this point tip towards first competition in golf and ping-pong, intercollegiate intramurals.

These two sports, because of ease in facilities needed, would be first in line for extension of our intramural competition to other camps. Strong sentiment here has been noted for this plan.

Three Frats Lead Quint Competition

● AFTER the first week of hectic interfraternity basketball competition, Sigma Phi Epsilon leads the league A with two victories and Kappa Alpha and Sigma Chi are tied for League B leadership with one win apiece.

Sig Eps took League A supremacy by virtue of a last-second win over Phi Sigma Kappa, which had a 11-5 halftime lead, and a forfeit victory over Acacia. Francis King, Sig Eps forward, scored the winning point on a free throw in the last 30 seconds of play in a rough contest. In other League A games Sigma Nu won easily over Theta Delta Chi 21-10, but the Theta Deltas came back a few nights later to hand the Phi Sigs their second defeat 10-7 in a slow game. Tau Kappa Epsilon won over Acacia by forfeit.

Kappa Alpha out-scored S. A. E. 27-16 in a heated battle, that threatened at times to end in a free for all. The Sigma Chis kept pace with K. A. by handing Theta Sigma Rho a 23-17 setback in another hard-fought game. Other League B results were Delta Tau Delta 14-11 win over Kappa Sigma, and Tau Sig's 12-10 edge over the Deltas.

Yesterday's League A game brought Sigma Nu against T. K. E. and in League B, Kappa Sigma tangled with S. A. E. and Sigma Chi with K. A. Wednesday's games are Phi Sig vs. Acacia, T. D. X. meets T. K. E., and D. T. D. plays S. A. E. Thursday night S. P. E. faces Sigma Nu in what should determine the League A winner. Kappa Sigma tussles with Sigma Chi, and Tau Sigma Rho with Kappa Alpha.

Chi O Places First

● CHI OMEGA won the women's intramural volleyball tournament Friday when it defeated Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Beta Phi. Phi Beta Phi won second place and Kappa Kappa Gamma, third. The scores were as follows: Chi Omega defeated Phi Beta Phi 21-11; 21-16 and Kappa Kappa Gamma 21-3; 21-11. Phi Beta Phi won over Kappa Kappa Gamma 22-20; 21-3.

Pingpong tournaments are to be scheduled before the holidays with Kitty Calver and Norma Hatfield as managers.

Gridmen Pledges Hold First Smoker As Best Rate Hall

By Frank McGinnis

● MR. PARKER HALL, that rather hefty gentleman from down in Mississippi, seems to have impressed somebody beside the several thousands of spectators who witnessed the Colonials set-to with the "Ole Miss" for in the All Opponent Team selected by the Buff eleven this past week, Hall was a unanimous choice for the mythical backfield and also for the outstanding individual player that was faced during the season. He also had a lot to do with having his team selected by a wide margin as the outstanding opposition eleven that the Colonials met this year.

Assisted by Blackwell

He was ably assisted in this last question by teammate Anne Blackwell, an outstanding end in the South this season, and by backfield mate Kim Bradley who called signals for the Rebs in a very successful manner. Clemson also placed three men on the first team, a tackle, an ace center, and a back. Clemson Tigers, Pennington, Woods, and Ellis were selected. The fourth in the backfield is Lou Tomasetti from Bucknell who caused no end of trouble in their 16-0 loss in the rain.

The man who received the biggest ovation given any player in the past two years here, Mike Kubol of Butler, was an easy victor for one of the guards posts where he was teamed with West Virginia's 60 Minute veteran, Edoravich of Davis and Elkins failed to impress the spectators to any great extent, but he was an almost unanimous choice for tackle and evidently won the respect of the entire squad with his play. Kansas provides the last man in the person of Dave Shirk, an end, who was selected over Murphy of Mississippi in a rather close vote.

Rifle Squad Practicing For Match

● LOOKING FORWARD to the start of actual competition in late January, the National Champion Colonial rifle squad continues to blaze away in the basement of old Corcoran Hall with high hopes of repeating last year's triumph. The eight-man squad under the tutelage of Coach Parsons has come along in an encouraging manner and the loss of four of last year's stars does not loom quite so large as it did earlier in the year.

From present indications the squad that will represent the Buff will be composed of Bob Randall, Bill Brown, Wilbur Sze, Ed Turrou, and M. Manjion, with McAdams, McMillan, and Benson as capable substitutes. However, if there are any students interested and who possess any ability at all they will not be turned away untested.

The squad this year is in a four school league consisting of Georgetown, Maryland, and the Naval Academy which will compete in a series of two matches between each team on a home-and-home basis, and at the conclusion of this will participate in the National Intercollegiate Tournament which they won last year.

There has been a slight change in the manner of competition as in addition to the prone kneeling, and standing positions of firing for a possible 1500 points, the sitting position has been added and the total of possible points raised to 2000.

Greek Letter Chapters Hold Many Functions

● FRATERNITIES and sororities continue to do their part in keeping the students from studying too hard. With exams getting closer and closer the students need something to help them forget.

Phi Sigma Kappa
Last Sunday night Phi Sig added their share to the Interfraternity Round-Robin by giving an informal dance. The annual Silver-Magnolia Ball will be held the 10th.

Sigma Nu
Collin Bauer, of the east of Goldenshoe, has been staying at the Sigma Nu house. He is a Sigma Nu from Washington.

Tau Kappa Epsilon
TKE gave a Latin Quarter dance last Saturday.

Delta Tau Delta
A hamburger fry will be held Friday at the home of Dr. Ames, the executive officer of the Engineering School. He is a member of the fraternity. Arthur Branscombe, social chairman, has just recovered from an appendectomy.

Delta Zeta
Delta Zeta is discussing plans for a Christmas dance and party. About two weeks ago Louise May was elected recording secretary. She replaced Pat Jahn, who resigned.

Sigma Phi Epsilon
Sigma Phi Epsilon held a radio dance last Saturday night. Each member brought a record as the price of admission.

Pledges Hold First Smoker

● THE Interfraternity Pledge Council held its first big social event of the year, the Pledge Smoker at the Continental Hotel, Wednesday night.

Doctor Elmer Louis Kayser, Dean of University Students and an alumni of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, gave an informal speech on the importance of pledges in the Fraternity System. He declared that scholarship and character should be prominent.

At the conclusion of the Dean's speech, each pledge group participated in an Amateur Contest night. According to Jay Bowen, social chairman of the Council, each presentation gave evidence of thought and originality on the part of the members.

The silver cup, given as a prize for the best and most original skit, was won by the Acacia Pledge group, with Sigma Alpha Epsilon following as a close second.

The Acacia boys did a shadow farce of a surgical operation and the S. A. E.'s gave a "mellodrama." The winning skit will be given as a feature at the Interfraternity Pledge Prom.

Jay Bowen introduced Dean Kayser and acted as master of ceremonies, with Tommy Wilkins introducing the delegates.

Junior Panhel In 2nd Year

● STARTING the second year of the revived Panhellenic Pledge Council, the first meeting was held Friday noon in D-102, according to a statement released by Jane Coulter, vice-president of the Panhellenic Council, who is in charge of the "baby" council.

Following the rotation system, where each sorority holds the presidency once every eleven years, Marie Robinson, Chi Omega, was named president. The other officers are Lilian Gelfer, secretary, and Pat Montgomery, Kappa Kappa Gamma, treasurer.

At the first meeting there was a discussion of the Pledge Prom and the Goat show. No decision was reached.

The Panhellenic Pledge Prom made its appearance last year under the management of Virginia Birkby, after six years of inactivity on the campus. The main event of the social calendar last year was the annual Pledge Prom given at the Kennedy-Warren last February 11.

Alpha Chi Sigma

Plans Open Dance

● ALPHA CHI SIGMA, Men's Chemical Fraternity, will hold a large open dance at the Apartment Hotel, 2400 16th street, Friday night, December 16.

This dance is being given with the hope that other organizations in the field of science as well as groups or individuals of the campus in general will take this opportunity to meet a group of future chemists from the University and Maryland, according to a statement made by A. R. Martin, President of Alpha Chi Sigma.

The fraternity has sponsored scientific demonstrations by some of the nations' leading experts in the field; the last was in the field of glass-blowing. Scientific moving pictures were shown in Corcoran Hall last year and will be continued this year.

Columbian Women's Club To Give Tea Today

● MRS. RICHARD W. HYSOON will pour at the tea of the Columbian Women of the University today at 4 o'clock at Columbian House, 2033 G Street.

The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. H. J. Russell McWitt and Mrs. F. E. Nessell.

Three Classes Hold Initial Joint Event

By Jane Mann

● ATTENTION, FROSH, SOPHS AND JUNIORS—For once the Seniors aren't the chosen ones. Thursday night they'll be left out in the cold when the Tri-Class Party gets underway.

The recreational evening will get started at 7:30 in Gov-203 with a panel discussion on "Equality of the Sexes." Representing the Juniors will be Alice Miller and Wayne Kniffin; representing the Sophomores, Elsie Carper and Eugene Lerner; and representing the Freshmen, Mary Jo Oslin and Daniel Fussfeld. The discussion will be informal and later thrown open for questions from the floor.

IRWIN NATHANSON

Pledge Council Completes Prom Plans

● THE Interfraternity Pledge Prom has completed arrangements for the traditional prom to be held at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel, January 6, 1939, according to an announcement made by Jay Bowen, social chairman of the Council Saturday.

The Prom is the highlight of the Pledge Council's social season and Tommy Wilkins, co-chairman, reports that neither time nor expense has been spared in making it one of the outstanding events of the year.

Meyer Davis's own great society band has been secured by the Council for the dance. Davis comes to the Kennedy-Warren fresh from his engagement at the British Embassy on New Year's Eve.

The Acacia pledge class, which won the cup for the best presentation at the Smoker Wednesday night, will present their skit during intermission.

Tickets are now on sale and may be secured from the pledges of any fraternity.

Engagement Announced

● THE ENGAGEMENT of Miss Edna Noreen Walter to Mr. Everette H. Bellows was announced last week. Miss Walter is a Delta Zeta from Oregon State College and a sophomore at the University. Mr. Bellows is a member of Tau Sigma Rho and prominent in activities on the campus.

Following this, there will be presented by each of the classes an old-fashioned "mellodrama." It has been announced that the Sophomore Club will present "The Tale of the Lighthouse Keeper's Daughter." The other two titles haven't been released, but the plays are in rehearsal at present.

After the playlets, the entire group will move to the Student Club for dancing, bridge, and ping-pong. The winners of the Soph Club ping-pong tournament will play off the winners of the Junior and Freshmen contests for the grand prize.

During the evening, novelty stunts will be featured. A "beezor burner" contest will be held for those who claim to be able to beat anybody at that sort of thing. (Contestants will please furnish their cigars.)

Free Admission to Members

The entire evening is free to members of the three clubs. No one else will be admitted. Irwin Nathanson, chairman of the committee on arrangements, said: "The aim of the class clubs is to foster and develop a class spirit which will lead to a better school spirit. Under the present activity set-up, it appears that the only way in which the class clubs can achieve their aim is by cooperation in affairs of this sort." Aiding Nathanson on his committee are Phil Young, from the Junior Club, and Allan Coleman, from the Freshman Club.

This is the first time in the history of the class organizations that any three-way social functions have been attempted. If the Tri-Class Party is successful, it will probably become an annual affair.

W. A. A. Holds Christmas Party

● A CHRISTMAS party celebrating the founding of the Fund for the Women's Activities Building will be held Monday in Columbian House at 4 p. m.

The feature of the party will be the presentation to Charles W. Holmer, Comptroller of the University, of donations to the Fund from Mortar Board, Columbian women, and other University organizations.

Guests at the party will include all women members of the faculty, the women trustees of the University, and presidents of all University organizations containing women members.

This party marks the conclusion of the first in a series of activities designed to promote the cause of the Women's Activities Building.

Rottenberg Wins Annual Davis Contest

MARKING the 91st anniversary of the oldest contest sponsored by the University, Simon Rottenberg, Scott Kirkpatrick, and Phoebe Jane Beall, were awarded first, second and third prize in the annual Davis Prize Speaking Contest Wednesday night in Gov. 1.

In his prize-winning speech "Who Owns Mexico?" Mr. Rottenberg reviewed Mexico's past history, describing the burdens imposed upon the people through the unparalleled exploitation of Mexican wealth by outside interests. In spite of poverty and its low standard of living, Mexico is a rich country, he pointed out.

"It is against these abuses that the present revolution is directed," he remarked.

Kirkpatrick asserted that the United States has gone too far along the road of character disintegration in his speech entitled "Personal Integrity." He pointed out the subtle but significant changes which are taking place in American character. In conclusion, he stated that "we can not sit back and await some reawakening of public opinion."

Miss Beall upheld the policies of group health organizations against the opposition of the medical profession. "There is only one conclusion," she said, "The basis of opposition is both selfish and insincere." Judges of the contest were Miss Helen Newman, Mr. W. R. Ogg, and Colonel O. B. McGuire. Prof. Gilbert Hall was chairman.

National Defense Committee Meets

The newly-constituted National Defense Committee of the Congress will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Hatchet office to adopt the National Defense bill which will be reported out at the Congress meeting December 14. Members of the Committee are: A. C. Johnson, chairman, Frank Ford Burnet, John Huddleston, Gene Crowe, Edna Donnell, Helen Hoyem, Fred Youngblood, Ward McCabe, George Fughe, Si Rottenberg, Joe Gierce, Bob Thornion, James Kiasse, David Bergson, and Bob Morrison. Three Liberal Republican members are yet to be appointed.

The Student Bar Association is organized by the University as an integral part of the Law School, to afford a vehicle for organization and coordination of law school student professional extra-curricular undertakings. Operating under the "integrated bar plan," now in force in a number of the States, under which each lawyer must be a member of the Bar Association, every student enrolled in the Law School automatically becomes a member of the Student Bar Association.

ing failure of the University to provide funds for production. Attacks on the organization, based on charges of "packing" an election meeting last month, resulted in the holding of an open hearing in these charges. This hearing, under the direction of the Advocate, was unable to substantiate or refute the charges.

Drama Directors, Hopefuls Amaze Investigators

By Phil Young

THE PURPOSEFUL citizens who strode into Gov. 1 Wednesday seemed somewhat amazed at the prospect that met the eye.

The visitors, consisting mainly of Advocate George Fughe and several Hatchet reporters, were interested in investigating the packing charges against Cue and Curtain. If they expected that the record election attendance would have fallen off to a desultory handful, they were disappointed. What they actually saw was a room full of people, split up into couples, grimly rehearsing parts as though their lives depended on it.

At the front, a somewhat motley group were engaged in giving their names and qualifications for assignment to the technical staffs. Across the hall, in a theatrically darkened room, sat a hard-boiled board of directors, hearing nervous tryouts. All in all, an attendance of about 70 members, many of them new students, reported.

The attendance was particularly remarkable in that the competition was tremendous. The Davis Speaking Contest, interfraternity basketball, and assorted meetings and functions were being conducted simultaneously.

The Congress will meet Dec. 14 to discuss national defense.

Richard McDonald (D) was elected permanent chairman of the rules committee. Other chairmen are: A. C. Strict Interpretation Of Rule 6 Protested

Baptist Students Banquet Friday

MORE THAN 250 students from five schools of the district will attend the annual banquet of the Baptist Student Union Friday at the National Baptist Memorial Church. The banquet will start at 7 p.m. with representatives from American University, Maryland University, Benjamin Franklin University, Strayer Business College and Wilson Teachers College attending.

Speakers on the theme, "Commandments of the Christ," will be Mrs. Frances J. Nichols and Mr. William Hall Preston.

Mrs. Nichols, a graduate of the University, has traveled widely and has interviewed both Adolf Hitler and Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek. Mr. Preston is an associate of Dr. Frank H. Leavell, Director of the Baptist Student Union in the South, and has done extensive work in Southern colleges.

Special music by the Baptist Student Union Quartet will round out the evening's program.

University Alumnus Publishes New Book

PROF. CARL COKE REISTER, an alumnus of the University, Ph. D. 1925, who is now Professor of History at the University of Oklahoma, has just published a book entitled "Southern Plainsmen," the History Department announced last week.

The book, a historical-sociological study, of the early days of the Southwest, has attracted favorable comment in historical circles.

Professor Reister received his A.M. here in 1920.

Editor's Note—Rule 6 states that no student clubs or societies (except social fraternities, sororities, scholastic honor societies, religious or professional clubs or societies) organized as a branch or affiliate of a non-University organization will be recognized by the Student Life Committee.

DELEGATES from the Syphony Club, Literary Club, Farm-Labor Party, Men's Independents, and Magna Carta met at a meeting sponsored by Magna Carta to arrange a committee to study Rule 6 Wednesday night.

Under a strict interpretation of this rule, the Syphony Club members will not be able to enter a contest of Federated Music Organizations. The Student Life Committee has received the application for a lax interpretation of Rule 6, but as yet nothing has been decided. Until some decision is handed down the investigating committee from the five organizations will not act.

Hudson Wells, president of Magna Carta, who presided at the meeting, said:

"The Student Life Committee last year refused Magna Carta permission to participate in a drive to raise funds for an ambulance to be sent to Spain, because of its strict interpretation of Rule 6. This past decision may influence the result of the Syphony Club's application."

At the present time the committee is studying past material on the rule, and checking over all future possibilities.

William Gaussman, delegate from the Farm-Labor Party, in commenting on the much-discussed rule, said, "Rule 6 embodies a theory of intellectual isolation which is in plain contradiction to truth. So long as it is impossible to keep 'outside' ideas from penetrating into this sacred block, it is foolish to prohibit associations from expressing those ideas on this campus in conjunction with other persons."

Marie McNeese, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, "always gets a lot of fun out of reading the column. All of the girls seem to search for the column the first thing," she stated.

Roy Lever, president of the Interfraternity Council, said that "it stimulates interest in what is going on socially at the University. If this portion of the paper is taken out, the personal news at the University will be omitted."

that SLC would not meet until the constitution was ready.

The Student Council at its last meeting gave $350 to the "theater board," provided that not more than half this amount will be available immediately.

Allotment of this sum among the member groups on the board, the Council ordered, is to be made by a committee of three persons, consisting of Miss Yates, Chairman Jay Samuel of the Finance Committee, and Phil Fairchild, "business manager" of the board appointed by Miss Yates.

Remainder Later

The remaining half of the $350 will be given to the board when, in the judgment of the same committee of three, the programs of the member groups have proved a "success."

Norman Rose, president of the Literary Club, charged that his group has been ignored completely by both Council and Board. He told The Hatchet his club had elected Verna Kiefer as board delegate.

The Literary Club's request for $50 for producing drama was before the Council when it allotted the $350, but was entirely ignored. Bernard's Statement

Francis Bernard, president of the Symphony Club, gave the following statement to The Hatchet: "I think it will nullify the idea of the board to have Miss Yates, Fairchild, and Samuel allot the appropriation."

She is majoring in romance languages and expects to be a librarian.

Anna K. Molster is an English major, a member of Alpha Delta Theta, the French Club, and the Glee Club and looks forward to concert singing.

cussed before the group, ranging from the idea of publishing a magazine without the administration's blessings up to a motion which was tabled until the next meeting and which dealt with renouncing altogether the club's intention of undertaking such a publication.

The plan of faculty cooperation with the group was defended by Professor Baker, who termed the idea as having been built up into a gigantic "honey man."

Administration Questioned

Others present felt that the Administration was putting moral judgment far ahead of literary or artistic skill and that the discretion and intelligence of the members in regard to a standard of propriety was being ignored.

The discussion was finally terminated by a motion which was passed and which suggested that the Board of Editors meet with Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, chairman of the Publications Committee, and attempt to bring about some form of compromise that would be agreeable to both sides.

No definite action was taken on the problem of the Theatre Board or on the rejection by the Student Council of the club's recent request for $50 for drama purposes. Two resolutions pertaining to these questions were turned over to a committee, which will consider and act upon them before the next business meeting.

Congress To Discuss National Defense

Majority Bill Report
From Committee
Expected Tomorrow

STUDENT OPINION on the subject of national defense will be voiced at the Student Congress meeting tomorrow night in Stockton 30 at 8 o'clock.

The majority bill which the committee on national defense will report is expected to include provisions for a larger navy, defense of the Panama Canal, increased efficiency of the National Guard, a larger air force, and a conservative provision for industrial mobilization in time of war.

Possibility loomed that two minority reports will be presented. Everett Bellows, president of the Congress, this week emulated President Roosevelt's appointment of Alf Landon as a delegate to the Pan-American Conference.

Bellows appointed as parliamentarian of the Congress the man who opposed him for the office of president—Leonard Wilson.

Royce Lowry (P) was named president pro-tem; Abe Simon, publicity director; and Murray Berdick, clerk of the Congress.

The lone Progressive committee chairman, Ray Litovitz, was removed last week by the rules committee and Wayne Kniffin (LD) elected in his stead, leaving five Democrats and two Republicans serving as committee chairmen, and none from the Farmer-Labor Party or the Progressive Party.

A delegate from the Progressives moved that the Executive Council veto the action of the rules committee in electing Stuart Russell (LD) chairman of the committee on Government and Business.

A substitute motion made by a Liberal Republican delegate vetoed all the chairmen elections and referred them back to the committee.

The committee elected identically the same chairmen with the exception of Litovitz.

The vote on Russell's election was tied and the chair cast a vote for Russell.

Under the new rules adopted by the rules committee each bill will be considered by sections. Each party will be allowed to make one amendment to each section and each delegate will be limited to five minutes on each section or amendment.

No motion for adjournment or call for a quorum will be recognized while a legislative bill is under consideration.

The Congress will meet on the second Wednesday in each month from December through February. In January, the subject of discussion will be foreign affairs; in February agriculture.

International Night Set For Friday

INTERNATIONAL NIGHT, featuring songs, dances, music and native costumes from many countries, will be staged Friday in Gov. 1 at 8:15 p.m.

Presented annually by the International Students' Society, the program this year, according to Auguste Costantini, chairman of arrangements, will be the "Secrets of the East" given by the club.

The Washington Popular Opera Association, which last year received wide acclaim for the presentation of the Barber of Seville and Rigoletto in Constitution Hall, will present a narrative of the Bartered Bride.

The Far East section of the program will feature the Nordica Mandolin and Guitar Orchestra in Hawaiian and Philippine selections.

Betty Burnett, president of the International Club and accomplished accordionist, will act as accompanist for Il Circolo di Cultura Italiana in the presentation of the Tarantella dance.

The daughter of the Mexican Ambassador, Senorita Erna Castilleja, will be the vocalist of the Pan-American section of the show.

"Members of the Diplomatic Corps, as well as students are taking a great interest in the program," said Prof. Alan T. Deibert, faculty adviser of the International Students.

Diplomats Accept Invitations. Among those who have already accepted invitations are: The Minister of El Salvador and Senora de Castro; the Second Secretary of the Embassy of Ecuador and Mme. Paez; Mr. and Mme. Dimitriu of the Royal Roumanian Legation.

Smoking Must Cease In Class, Officials Declare

AS A RESULT of the increasing practice of smoking by students in classrooms, especially while waiting for classes to begin, University officials have asked all members of the staff to endeavor to curtail such occurrences.

A memorandum, distributed over the signature of W. C. Ruediger, Provost of the University, requested members of the University staff to mention the matter to their classes and thereafter speak to individuals whenever the occasion requires it.

Council Starts Investigation Of Rule 6

THE STUDENT Council's investigation of Rule 6 got under way yesterday afternoon, when Betty Griswold, investigation committee of one, discussed with Prof. DeWitt Bennett, chairman of the Student Life Committee, the meaning of the oft-debated rule, as interpreted by those who know the background of the article.

"My findings," said Miss Griswold, "will be announced at the meeting of the Council tonight. I investigated as an impartial observer, and my findings will be discussed by the Student Council. I personally think that too many people have been making statements without facts, they have been expressing opinions on the matter without proper background or understanding of the facts involved in the Rule 6 controversy."

George Pugh, Student Council Advocate, said: "I hope the investigation will bring forth a comprehensive statement from the Board of Trustees as to their precise position on this question."

When questioned about Rule 6, Barbara Harmon, Program Director of the Council, said: "I think that there is much too much discussion about the rule, since the University doesn't wish to enforce it for anything. The students are interpreting Rule 6 more literally than the Administration has interpreted it. It was made primarily to keep the school from becoming a mecca for propagandists. The whole thing is much ado about nothing."

Dee Shephard, business manager of the Cherry Tree, said: "I don't think the advantages which are offered by national affiliations should be overlooked. Experiences of organizations on other camps will help similar groups at George Washington to be more efficient in obtaining their objectives."

When asked about her views, Virginia Birky, president of Pan-Hellenic Council, said: "I'm particularly interested in it because it doesn't affect social sororities, fraternities or honoraries."

"I have never believed that Rule 6 has been conducive to a hearty and powerful school spirit. It brings to the University a great amount of friction and distress because the Administration and the students that must be eradicated to place the George Washington University on its deserved high plane," Eugene Lerner, member of the Executive Committee of the Congress, said.

Smoking Must Cease In Class, Officials Declare

AS A RESULT of the increasing practice of smoking by students in classrooms, especially while waiting for classes to begin, University officials have asked all members of the staff to endeavor to curtail such occurrences.

A memorandum, distributed over the signature of W. C. Ruediger, Provost of the University, requested members of the University staff to mention the matter to their classes and thereafter speak to individuals whenever the occasion requires it.

Three Class Clubs Form New Council

ESTABLISHED to coordinate the activities of the three class clubs on the campus, the Tri-Class Council, composed of delegates from the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior Clubs met late last week to consider its program for the year.

Seven delegates decided at the first meeting to coordinate meeting days of the member clubs as well as to pool the activities of the clubs in the current Food Drive.

Classes Work Together. Under the leadership of Barbara Harmon, Program Director of the Student Council, the Council at its first meeting decided that the clubs will work as one unit to provide a Children's Christmas for the Food Drive. The funds gathered by the three groups will be pooled and will go towards the purchase of tangerines and candy for poor children.

Deciding that meeting days should also be coordinated, the Council voted that meetings of the class clubs will all take place on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month while Council meetings will be held the first Wednesday.

Council Will Elect. At the next meeting, the Council will elect its officers. By that time, Jan. 4, the class clubs are expected to have each named three permanent delegates to the Council.

Delegates present at the organization meeting were Alice Miller, Jackie Maslin, and Phil Young from the Junior Club; Elsie Carper and Mike McKool of the Sophomore Club; and Bill Zeller and Mary Jo Oslin of the Freshman Club.

The former athletic director, Professor James E. Pliske, who has been on Sabbatical leave, will return to assist President Marvin in the development of alumni activities and the University's field house plans called for in the building program. Prof. Pliske will assume his new duties at the same time that Max Farrington takes charge of the athletic department. Due to ill health, which made it necessary for Pliske to take a year's leave, prevents him from continuing further in active coaching or directing the physical education program.

Reinhardt Lauded. Dr. Marvin also expressed confidence in the work of William J. Reinhardt, in charge of the coaching of all competitive athletic teams, who is beginning his fourth year as head basketball coach.

Reinhardt, who first came here in 1935 from the University of Oregon, with an enviable record as a basketball coach, has just completed five victories in nine games. John R. Busick, director of sports publicity, will continue in this capacity.

Under Farrington, much good will has been created for the University through personal contacts, and it is significant that resumption of athletic relations with Georgetown and Maryland have been made this year when Farrington was instrumental in the scheduling-making.

This season Maryland and G. W. U. will play each other in basketball on Feb. 22, and football relations (See "Farrington," Page 4)

Up to now Dr. Lavine's family has been unable to obtain any information as to the reason for his arrest. A sister sent to Vienna several weeks ago, proved to be of little help because of censorship of all letters from there. They were considerably shocked to learn of the fine and sentence.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge, but, following a short trial, was declared guilty. Members of the U. S. Consulate have been in constant touch with the case, and representatives were present at the trial. It is not known, however, whether the Consulate will take any action in behalf of Dr. Lavine.

Nazis Arrest MedGraduate In Vienna

DR. OSCAR LAVINE, 32-year-old graduate of the University Medical School, and Mt. Ranier and District physician, last week was fined 60,000 marks ($24,000) and given a six months' jail sentence of hard labor by the Nazis in Vienna, on a charge of currency smuggling, according to a statement by United Press.

Dr. Lavine was mysteriously arrested last Aug. 9, with Dr. George Albert, of New York, while engaged in post-graduate work in ophthalmology at a famous clinic in Vienna. The two doctors were accused of having acted as recipients of 60,000 marks for which they had allegedly contracted to deposit dollars in a bank in Switzerland.

No Information. Up to now Dr. Lavine's family has been unable to obtain any information as to the reason for his arrest. Founders Praises Hatchet; Reader Sends Rebuke

JESSE W. BARRETT, founder and first editor of The Hatchet, wrote to the present editors last week congratulating them on the award the paper recently received in Intercollegiate Newspaper Association competition at Gettysburg.

Barrett, now a lawyer in St. Louis, Mo., was the Republican candidate for governor in that state two years ago. He said that he wished to send his sincere hope the paper would continue its usefulness and success.

"I was father of The Hatchet," he explained. "It's mother was necessity—the necessity for a medium to make a great student body articulate (and, too, my personal necessity to earn funds)."

"Each week I read all of The Hatchet with real interest and enjoyment. It is a very different paper from that of 1906, and it should be, for this is a different age. I am greatly tempted to comment on the changes, but this may be an old-age urge to reminisce, and that would be amiss for this is intended as a bouquet and not a burden, to bless and not to bore."

Commenting on what was thought of the paper when he was in school, Barrett said, "We thought our paper a little better than that of other college publications, and I am happy that The Hatchet still holds its edge."

Farrington Will Head Athletics

PRESIDENT Cloyd Heck Marvin of the University announced last Thursday that Max Farrington, acting director of athletics, will become director of that department at the start of the second semester, Feb. 1, 1939. Farrington, now associate professor of physical education, is to assume complete control of the athletic department and will be solely responsible for the direction of competitive athletics. He will also become executive officer of the department of physical education for men.

The former athletic director, Professor James E. Pliske, who has been on Sabbatical leave, will return to assist President Marvin in the development of alumni activities and the University's field house plans called for in the building program. Theater Board Loses Member THEATER BOARD President Betsy Yates announced Sunday the withdrawal of the Literary Club from membership on the board. This leaves the board composed of Miss Yates, representing Cue and Curtin; Lucie Petta, representing Orchestrists; and Francis Barnard, of the Symphony Club.

The Theater Board at present operates on a constitution which has the tentative approval of Cue and Curtin, but which has not yet been approved by the other two member organizations or by the Student Life Committee.

Opinions Differ. Heads of Cue and Curtin feel that the Theater Board derives its authority from the member groups, and that its functions do not include technical supervision of activities in such groups.

Miss Yates feels that in view of the failure of Cue and Curtin to produce any results during the past year, the cause of campus dramatics will be furthered by their control by the Theater Board, which group she feels to be more competent. With this view in mind, she has issued a call for students interested in theatrical productions, including make-up, lighting, costumes, stage designs and properties to meet in E-202 on Thursday to discuss the problems of the Theater Board and to set up its organization.

Some 70 members of Cue and Curtin last week attended a meeting of that group for frivols and assignments to production positions.

The former athletic director, Professor James E. Pliske, who has been on Sabbatical leave, will return to assist President Marvin in the development of alumni activities and the University's field house plans called for in the building program. Prof. Pliske will assume his new duties at the same time that Max Farrington takes charge of the athletic department. World Peace Talk Shifted To Hitler

BY A SUBTLE shift of emphasis on the topic, "Is the British Empire a Menace to World Peace?" an Englishman, an Irishman, and two Americans dismissed the original question in favor of a more pertinent one, "Who Will Stop Hitler?" in the Anglo-Irish debate Wednesday night in Gov. 1.

In repudiation of Corker and Wilson's denunciation of British policies, William Beers and William T. Williams, members of the British team, questioned the practicability of American policies.

Leonard Wilson, University debater, intimated that the peace of the Munich pact may expire, and Italy, Germany, and Japan may continue to be a menace to world peace.

"Munich would have been impossible had it not been for the British Empire," he said. Summing up the present European situation, he said, "The question now is, 'Who will stop Hitler?'"

Objects to Attitude. Mr. Beers objected to the American academic attitude toward European politics. "The United States is like a minister of justice telling the English policeman what to do," he claimed.

Charles Corker objected to England's policy of appeasement for the Dictators. "Great Britain, in yielding bit by bit, is playing Hitler's game in Hitler's way," he said.

William T. Williams suggested that America is also responsible for Dictators in Europe since President Wilson signed the Versailles treaty which was in a large way responsible for the rise of Dictators in Europe. Mr. Williams advocated a

Food Drive Committee Sets Very High Goal

Touching Appeals
Received From Needy Families

HOPING to feed more than 250 needy Washingtonians on Christmas Day, the Student Council opened the annual Food Drive last night.

This year's committee has set their goal far above that of previous years, when the students of the University have played host to over 150 needy people at Christmas.

Already a permanent fixture for several years, the Food Drive committee has received many appealing letters for aid.

The purpose of the campaign and past results are summed up in the opening portion of one of the appeals received this year.

"A few years ago your students of the University have played host to a very happy Christmas," writes a mother of six children whose husband is in the hospital suffering from tuberculosis.

"I had hoped that I would never be forced to call on you again—but I do."

"Their daddy has been in the hospital eight months this year. I can't give them a Christmas," she writes.

Indications, drawn from the activity now seen on the campus, are that the University students are again going to back the co-directors of the drive, Alice Miller and John Sullivan, to the limit in putting the drive over the top.

Money Desired. Money is chiefly desired of the students. In the manner fresh food bought a day or two before Christmas will be set before 250 needy men, women, and children, who otherwise would have a dreary Christmas.

The Food Drive will be conducted in an extensive manner. All campus organizations will be contacted.

At many points on the campus the committee will place boxes and bottles where donors may give as much as they can, as often as they can.

However, if University students desire to give food, places for their collection will be provided. Food must be of a non-perishable nature. Toys to brighten up the Christmas Day for many unfortunate children will also be collected by the committee.

Benefit Program. A benefit program with the entire proceeds going into the Food Drive Fund has been arranged by the committee in the form of a concert. (See "Food Drive," Page 4)

Students Still Favor Hatchet Gossip Column

IN SPITE of editorial comment of last week, students can read and write after all, it seems, for believe it or "no," the Editor actually received some 15 letters last week voicing various and sundry opinions in favor of a gossip column.

Letters received ranged from two pages in length to one short paragraph, and from warm expressions of approval of the recent gossip column to heated criticism of campus politics write-ups.

For full disclosure of this item of student interest, see this week's editorial "gossip column" page.

No Cooperation Shown

THE STUDENT CONGRESS, the Student Council, and the Forum Director were all requested to aid in the fight against the anti-semitic feeling now growing in America. To date not one of these organizations have aided The Hatchet in any way in its campaign.

This campaign was to be backed by these groups, and it was largely at the suggestion of these groups that this campaign was launched. It was the feeling of the Board of Editors that the anti-semitic feeling now growing in America should be brought out into the open so that it might be dealt with in the light of reason and not viewed from an emotional standpoint.

As usual the Congress did not see fit to do its part toward the crystallizing of public opinion, the forum director failed to obtain a speaker and the Council tabled the matter.

The Hatchet feels, however, that this movement should be carried on and that the Jewish question should be attacked from a rational standpoint.

For these reasons The Hatchet will continue its policy of trying to bring this problem into the open so that it might be dealt with in a democratic way.

Food Drive Prospects

THE GOAL OF THE FOOD DRIVE this year far surpasses those of previous years. It is their aim to feed 250 needy families on Christmas Day.

That the George Washington Food Drive is becoming known throughout the city is shown by the number of letters from the indigent addressed to the Food Drive co-directors. In the past the Food Drive has received little mention from other newspapers, but we believe, as the years go on the drive will become a vital part of the city-wide Christmas campaign.

It should be considered a privilege to contribute to the drive. Numerous students contribute to relief agencies in their native states and also help out indigent people of their own acquaintance so that it would appear on first glance that a further contribution toward the George Washington Food Drive would be unjust. It should be pointed out, however, that the drive does not ask for large contributions and it realizes that if each student gave 25 cents the total contribution would be around $2,000 received, which would go a long way in making many families much happier on Christmas.

A benefit program is being sponsored this year in the form of a combination basketball game and dance Saturday at the gym. By these means the drive hopes to present an added attraction in the way of promoting their campaign.

Also they will be able to collect cash at the doors which will aid the drive because they will then be able to buy perishable food for the indigent families.

From all indications the drive should be the most successful since its inauguration if present plans are carried out as anticipated.

Roosevelt and The Third Term

THE COMPLEXITY OF MODERN WORLD is such that it is the belief of the Editorial Board is that they are far too "uneducated" in the affairs of the nation to comment on them with any degree of authority on this page. For this reason The Hatchet has not taken part in any national controversy.

However, it is interesting to read the comments on "Third Term?" in the Saturday Evening Post this week in which Hugh Johnson declares that President Roosevelt will run for a third term, and will be reelected President. This announcement by such an astute man as Hugh Johnson is an interesting observation to many of the students at George Washington University as many of them are employed in New Deal agencies and have been brought here largely through the policies of the President.

Hugh Johnson also suggests that the President will turn his thoughts toward the right and will do all within his power to unite the Democratic party so as to assure himself of reelection.

The only problem that he seems to have left unanswered in his article, if his deductions are true, is the possible election of a Republican to the presidency. To Hugh Johnson this probability seems to be unworthy of comment, even though he says that the interests of those supporting the New Deal are contrary.

We Think—

THAT THE GIRLS OF STRONG HALL should have sufficient rest but that the switch board should be kept open until at least 11 p.m. on week-ends so that "necessary business" might be transacted.

That the idea of charging an extra dollar on the University administration fee would be a good thing if the students were offered surgical care for this extra amount. Maybe this was a campaign pledge of one of the major political parties last spring.

That the "gossip" column is really in demand and for that reason we are happy to present a bigger and better column for "those who cannot read." Many congratulations to some of our readers, and we do know that we do have readers now, who caught the planned discrepancy between the editorial page and the news page concerning the number of letters sent the editor.

That it would be a gesture of kindness for the University to furnish some sort of shelter for the people who operate the University parking lot on these cold days.

That it is next to impossible to put all the news of the week in The Hatchet as there are only 126 different activities on the campus. Errors that appear from time to time are regrettable, but unfortunately we of The Hatchet cannot guarantee that we will make no errors in the future. We thank those who send in corrections so that we may present the correct news.

Column for the Illiterate

ON SECOND THOUGHT

Paul Y. Anderson, Who Spoke at University Last Spring, Will Long Be Remembered for Objective Reporting

By CHARLES EARL WALLACE

THERE ARE many things I could write about today, such as my informal chat with C.I.O. Leader John L. Lewis at the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association convention two weeks ago in Gettysburg, the recent signing of the Franco-German peace pact, the closing of the football season, but I'm not going to touch on any of those subjects; not today.

What I am about to attempt is, in many respects, a difficult task, for it concerns the death of a friend who gained national prominence as a result of his journalistic ability and excellent reporting.

I wasn't acquainted with the deceased intimately, but I did know him well enough to know that he represented an outstanding contribution to the newspaper field.

"The friend was Paul Y. Anderson, Pulitzer prize-winner in 1928 and a brilliant reporter for more than 25 years. His death last Tuesday was due to an overdose of sleeping tablets.

It so happens that Mr. Anderson came from the same town the writer is from, Knoxville, Tenn. When he was working for the old Knoxville Journal and Tribune, a paper with definite Democratic leanings at that time, the city was much smaller than it is today, and Anderson was determined to leave the place.

As a boy Anderson attended Knoxville High School, where he was regarded by teachers as a radical "with menacing but intelligent thinking facilities." He saw so much graft in the local administration that officials had to take steps to curb his vision; his analytical ability caused even the owner of the paper to take notice; all of this he accomplished while he was a copy boy on the payroll.

Cramped by the petty acts going on within the small town, Anderson went to work for the St. Louis Times, later worked for the St. Louis Star and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

He left the Post-Dispatch in 1923 and came to Washington as an editorial writer for a news syndicate. He soon returned to the Post-Dispatch as a member of its Washington staff, and was drawing $16,000 a year when he was suddenly fired last March. The St. Louis Star-Times immediately put him on its staff.

Anderson sought to report objectively always, and only last spring commented to a reporter on the Hatchet:

"The main thing for a man entering the business today is to find a paper that does not want the news. Nearly all papers will let you tell the truth about fires, accidents, and cases of rape with allowances for public taste, but nine out of ten papers maintain their Washington bureaus to color national news according to their policy."

Anderson hated to be called a pink, Harvard-type liberal or a starry-eyed idealist, as Westbrook Pegler once dubbed him.

Awarded the Pulitzer prize ten years ago for his series of dispatches from Washington which led to reopening of the Teapot Dome oil scandals, Anderson was also commended in a resolution by the House of Representatives for public services in connection with the East St. Louis, Ill., race riots. Not so long ago I asked him if (See "On Second Thought," Page 6)

BE IT KNOWN, to all interested parties that the astute associate editor, Frank Ford Burnet, has just received a warning in Elementary Journalism. "And why?—His new inspiration! The noted woman-hater has a yen for Virginia Birkby and is in the throes of despair because she won't join him working for the Hatchet. Hat Rogers is the forgotten man in the case."

Bill Gausmann, political stooge-in-chief of the campus, walks around with a calf-eyed expression on his face, fearing the day when the political idealist, Elizabeth Rawlings, finds out about his famous right, center to Farmer-Labor deals.

Ed Goode, the Student Club Hangover, is better known as Bedspread these days. He's being "turned down" by all the girls. Maybe they don't like to hold hands in public.

Alice Kirkley is getting married and not to Ed Cage. Swanie has Lyle Gundy's Kappa Sig pin.

From Betty "Jezebel" Stevenson, "I'm tickle and I love it." Promise or guarantee? ... Heard in the Student Club, "A Strong Hall freshman after her first blind date. 'I've had a wonderful evening but this is not it.' ... The Theta Delta Chi's moved because of the bed-bugs."

Have you heard the tradition about George's statue over by the Law School? And how long it's been since gentleman George tipped his hat?

George Pope is not going to lose out by running in only one primary. He plays the field. Still pinned to Mary Lou Nash he dates (See "Fodder," Page 6)

THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-EIGHT students signed a petition which read in answer to the question, "Should we have a gossip column?" "Yes—its the only thing worth reading in The Hatchet." For this reason the Board of Editors submits the ballot below so that it may again observe student opinion.

FAME

ON THE OCCASION of the first convention of Pi Delta Epsilon after Moravian College for Women was admitted, the Moravian Belfry said in an editorial:

We are honored to be represented among such colleges and universities as Cornell, Carnegie, Bucknell, and George Washington.

Well—we feel honored, too.

IF WE print jokes, folks say we are silly.

If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety.

If we are rustling news, we are not attending to business in our department.

If we don't print contributions, we don't show proper appreciation.

If we do print them, the paper is full of junk.

Like as not, some fellow will say we swiped this from another paper.

Well, we did.

Sadie Hawkins
Week Is

Girls Do the
Inviting and Pay Bill

By Abe Simon

COEDS AT McGill University turned the tables a few weeks ago when the first "Sadie Hawkins Week" was held at that Canadian institution.

During "Sadie Hawkins Week" rules usually reserved for leap year went into effect. It was up to the girls to make the dates, escort the males and PAY THE BILLS. By referring to the name of "Sadie Hawkins" at the beginning of their telephone conversations the coeds eliminate the necessity of being formally introduced.

Comic Strip Starts Idea
The McGill Daily started it all when it thought that an idea expressed in the Lil' Abner daily comic strip was applicable to college life.

In this cartoon, an old maid, "Sadie Hawkins," persuades her father to find her a husband. He does so by forcing all the eligibles in town to run in a race. "Sadie" starts running after the bachelors and the first one she catches must marry her.

"Sadie" Sweeps Canada
Soon afterwards the Daily heard from several other Canadian schools that "Sadie" weeks had been started on their campus.

And from other schools came the inevitable outcry, "We did it first!" Approval of the idea was given by almost all of the male students at McGill. A movement is now growing to make "Sadie Hawkins Week" an annual institution.

Now that the ball has been started rolling, the idea is rapidly catching on. It has already made an impression at Carnegie Tech where the newspaper's columnist, Bob Long, suggests that Carnegie try a "Sadie Hawkins Week."

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Editorial Note: The Hatchet reserves the right of condensing all letters received. The Hatchet requests that letters be not over 300 words long, and will grant anonymity if it is requested by the writer. The name of the person writing the letter must be known to the editors, however, before it is printed in The Hatchet. The editor requests the opinions of the student body on any question.

Letters to The Editor:
To The Editors of The Hatchet:

In regard to the situation of the Gossip Column which is seriously needed for campus yummph, we feel that Grant Sherk has done a splendid and campus-wide job, and HE should continue.

Phi Mu Sorority,
A.E.M.

Editorial Note: Score One for Sherk!

To the Editor:

The mass wave of indignation that spread over the campus about cutting the scandal column from The Hatchet, and the hundreds of signatures secured in protest, seems to be a good indication that the students do want that column to be a regular feature of the student paper. Evidently they do read that column, notwithstanding comments to the contrary from Frank Ford Burnet, news editor. Also rumors are floating around the campus that new changes by the news editor include a possible dropping of the fraternity-sorority calendar.

Fraternities contribute a great deal to the activities here at George Washington, and The Hatchet certainly is no exception in this respect. Besides, when The Hatchet recently won first place in the Intercollegiate News Association Convention at Gettysburg, both scandal column and Greek calendars were included in the editions scrutinized. If the news editor persists in going ahead with the continued absence of the scandal column, and demands the elimination of the fraternity-sorority calendar, then I, a Hatchet reporter, see no further reason to contribute my services to the paper. Many other members of The Hatchet staff have similar opinions.

Editorial Note:
Mutiny within the ranks. Also he anticipates our every move.

Editor of The Hatchet:

The Pi Beta Phi chapter would like to have Grant Sherk's column continued by Grant Sherk.

Editorial Note:
Another group heard from, and it seems that Grant Sherk's column is reiterated twice.

Editorial Note:
The front page news story and the editors "What No Gossip Column" were sent in together by a very, very observant reader. We only wish we had more of them (see below).

To The Editor:

These look all right on opposite pages but not so hot when placed side by side. Which is it?

Editorial Note:
The Editor never claimed the ability to read.

The Editor of The University Hatchet:

By chance I saw a copy of the November 15 issue of The Hatchet. It seemed like old times. For Cue and Curtin is still doing tricks. And, as usual, the noise it was making had nothing to do with the sound presentation of worthwhile plays.

It is a shame that, for a number of years, there has been nothing to answer the needs of those students interested in things theatrical. George Washington has lagged far behind most other universities in providing vital dramatic activities. Ideally, of course, there would be a dramatic school, complete with theater. In lieu of this, there should be a campus organization whose sole aim is to do first-class plays in the best possible manner. At one time Cue and Curtin gave indications of a desire to do this. But it fell by the way and became the present insipid group that it is. Too often the difficulty has been that the interests of the members were purely selfish and personal, in no way connected with the theater. And now it seems that the same old game is still being played with a new cast of characters.

If I might, I should like to make a suggestion. It is this: until such time as they find adequate provision at school, those students de-

Melodrama Entertains At Party

MELODRAMAS WERE in vogue Thursday night in Gov-203, when the Tri-Class Party got under way. The Freshman Club's theme was the popular song "No, No, a Thousand Times No," with President Bill Zeller doing the vocalizing.

The Sophs presented "The Light-House Keeper's Daughter," with Lily Dhu Cobb as the heroine, Murray Berdick as the villain, Roy Lowry as the old father, and Mike McKool as the hero.

The Juniors took the theme "Silence Is Golden," with Rae Neal as the lecturing wife, and Morgan Percy, as the husband who couldn't get a word in edgewise.

Featured among the novelty stunts was a "bezer burner" contest. Wayne Kniffin and Irwin Nathanson walked off with this cigar smoking contest.

"Equality of the Sexes" was well argued by Wayne Kniffin, Daniel Fusfeld, and Edgar Baker, representing the male sex, while Elsie Carper, Mary Jo Oslin, and Jackie Maslin stood up for the females of the species. No definite decision was reached.

Those present then moved to the Student Club for dancing, bridge, and ping-pong. Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served.

Daring Gown Decree Hit By Students

EMPHATICALLY favoring bare shoulders over peek-a-boo dress-upholding devices, campus cuties and Joe College here oppose the action taken by a dance committee at the University of Washington a few weeks ago banning strapless evening gowns as "immodest."

In issuing its decree, described here as "undemocratic," the committee announced that any coed appearing at the Varsity Ball in such a gown would be required to don a pair of old-fashioned suspenders before being admitted.

Virginia Riddle, Strong Hall resident who attended the University of Washington last year, was astounded when informed of the attitude of the committee. She declared, "Last year the students were just as democratic as those of any other school. . . I think strapless gowns are very flattering and feminine and have heard little complaint from the males."

Also astounded was another former Washington State resident, Roy Lowry, of Seattle, now in the Junior College. "I'm amazed at my home town," he affirmed, "it never was like that when I was there."

"University Sweetheart" Eleanor Sherburne, who wore an evening dress which had no visible means of support at the Homecoming Ball last month, finds the new style both desirable and entirely proper. "Our grandmothers were almost exactly that same style, and goodness knows they weren't considered immodest."

Three Classes Present "Mellerdrama"

Tau Sig's, K.A.'s, S.A.E.'s Wreck, Tack, Go Bohemian

COSTUME DANCES have taken the Greeks by storm, and as the Greeks go, so goes the University. Lately three honeys have come to our attention—Tau Sigma Rho's, Kappa Alpha's, and of course, Sigma Alpha Epsilon's.

Tau Sig's Shipwrecked Sailors, tattooed to perfection, entertained a motley crew Saturday night. Jimmy Mott stole the show in a hand-made palm skirt, rather vividly striped shorts, and a jungle hat. Shades of Rudolph Valentino!

Betty Barnard and date appeared in sarongs and brown paint, while Phil Bet Tommy Dowd unleashed his dignity in a flannel nightgown and nightcap, much to the disgust of date Nancy Morgan, who confided to others that his nightgown was itchy! Vic Sampson was in a "taking" mood, his booty being anything from toothbrushes to Betty Mussen's fluffy dog.

Sigma Chi's were having their troubles finding a brother in condition to pilot them home, much to the amusement of their hosts. Among others present were Gardner Franklin of Kappa Alpha, Joe LaSalle of Theta Delta Chi, Bob Linahan of Sigma Chi, and Ralph Gilbert of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Tacky Dress for K. A.'s
Sobriety was not the keynote of the evening as the Kappa Alphas cavorted in tacky dress. Anything went at this ball, with Leo Offenstein winning a bottle of milk for his costume of well-tailored burp sacks. The other prize-winner was Nancy Benham, who was chic as a 9th Street moll. Jerrie Dillman and Bourke Floyd came as a farmer and his wife, complete to gingham, overalls, and washwoman's knot. Marie Jorilemon looked quite stately in a tattered evening dress, while Clem Huggins came as a hunter. Buzz Fleming wore pickles from a rag bag and a high silk hat, and date Martha Schoenfeld wore a tight, short dress.

These oddly-assorted couples were announced to all sundry by means of a large sign over the entrance.

Gold Rush Days Again
S. A. E.'s Bal Boheme carried out the Gold Rush as a motif. Benny Edwards came as the Girl of the Yukon, while his date, Eleanor Sherburne, came as a miner. Slips that pass by night was the title of Frank McGinnis' costume. Wouldn't the Tau Sig's let you in, Frank?

Pat Lawrence was very demure in a fancy white nightgown decorated with babyblue ribbons. Ruth Warren, on the other hand, wore a dance hall girl costume that was laying them in the aisles. Bud Welles was at his best as the slickest gambler that ever smuggled an ace in the Yukon. Many and varied were the old-fashioned-girls present, among them being Lucy Ohler and Marie McNeese.

Background for these ladies and ladies was a large bar to lure the earring brethren.

College Park Coeds Visit University

THE UNIVERSITY chapter of Mortar Board was host Friday night to the Maryland University chapter in the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority rooms.

Lydia Evans, Louise Tucker, Peggy Maslin, Jane Kephart, and Doris Eichlin, came in from College Park for the social meeting. Special guests included Dr. Thelma Hunt, of the Psychology Department, and Mrs. Breckly, of Sorority Hall.

The Maryland girls told about a point system at their university that restricts a student's activities. Every person in activities receives a certain amount of points for being a member of a club, and more points if he is an officer. When a certain number of points are gotten by any one student, he is automatically restricted from holding any more offices, or joining any more groups.

Though the Mortar Board chapter of the University was very interested in the system, Barbara Harmon, publicity director of the society, said: "I'm sure we won't do anything about this activity point scale this year."

Kappa Delta

An informal dance will be held on Dec. 22, from 9-12.

The election of Pledge Officers was announced, and they are as follows: President, Rae Nell; Vice President, Ruth Zearing; Secretary, Betty Cooper; Treasurer, Eleanor Beachaley; Social Chairman, Betty Caswell.

Anglo-Irish Debators Offer Novel Ideas

By Marjorie Beall

THE ENGLISH, or rather the Welsh and Irish, lived down the British reputation for formality and poor sense of humor last Wednesday night after the Anglo-Irish debate when there was an exchange of ideas on dates and drinking bouts.

The most astonishing thing to our friends from across the pond was our system of dates. The idea of having a date with a girl without a formal introduction seemed incredible.

To quote Mr. Beers speaking on the subject, "I was standing in one of the fraternity houses at Penn State when someone asked me if I wanted a date. He put through a call and thrust the telephone into my hand. What was I to say? I had never seen the young lady!" It seems that when he said that he heard that he was to have the honor of her company, she laughed so hard that conversation ceased for ten minutes!

"The 'pub crawls' of the British sound like an institution which we should investigate. A whole crowd and anyone you happen to pick up on the way, start out to take in every 'pub' in the city. The last man has to go back and collect the friends he lost along the way."

Another thing that some of the "broke" men of this institution might move to Britain for is that in England you just can't have two dates with one girl in the same week. Propriety dictates this is an impossibility, and if you have a date with your best love on Monday you can't have another until a week later. Easy on the heart and the pocket book!

Strong Hall Benefit Dance Will Aid Food Drive

DON CARMICHAEL and his band will furnish the music for the third annual benefit dance to be held at Strong Hall following the Greek-non-Greek basketball game Saturday. The proceeds of the dance will be donated to the food drive, Irwin Nathanson, chairman of the dance committee, has announced.

Don Carmichael, who has played for numerous sorority and fraternity dances, has offered his services free of charge. Included on the entertainment program will be the Cross and Dunn piano act, which is currently playing at the Earl-theater.

The third annual drive which is sponsored by the student council, is under the direction of Alice Miller and John Sullivan. The co-directors in charge have asked cooperation of all students of the University. Boxes for contributions will be placed in the student club, so that students not affiliated with campus organizations may contribute.

The drive, which was opened yesterday, will continue to Dec. 20 and the baskets will be delivered to needy families in the city on the 23rd and 24th.

Last year the University contributed 150 baskets and $554. Commenting upon last year's food drive, Cap Gardener, last year's chairman, stated, "This happens to be by far the greatest amount collected by any University in this vicinity. This is one time that each activity on the campus has a chance to show its loyalty to the University in continuing this project which has brought much glory to the University."

Alpha Pi Epsilon Presents Tea

ALPHA PI EPSILON, honorary Home Economics fraternity, will give a tea for outstanding Home Economics women of the District Sunday, from 4 to 6 o'clock, in Columbian House.

The planning committee, under the chairmanship of Marjorie Allen and Madelyn Miller, composed of active, alumnae, and faculty members of the fraternity, announced that this is the most important function of this type that they have sponsored in several years. Guests will include the heads of the American and District Home Economics Associations, Washington Gas Light Co. and Pepco Institutes, Bureau of Home Economics, as well as the District Hospital Dietitians, Maryland University Home Economics faculty, and the women faculty members of George Washington.

Graduate Women Hold Breakfast

BETA CHAPTER of Phi Delta Gamma Sorority, National Sorority for Graduate Women, will entertain rushes with a breakfast Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at the Restaurant Pierre. This is one of a series of activities in honor of prospective members.

The hostesses for the tea are: Dorothy Lauder (chairman), Helen Travis, Jane Burke, Dorothy Corson, and Dora Shepard.

Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., Mrs. William Ruediger, Mrs. Henry G. Doyle, Mrs. William Crane Johnston, Mrs. Mitchell Dreese, and Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows will pour.

The sorority heard Mr. Russell Parr of the W. P. A. Art Projects speak on "Contemporary American Art" at the regular meeting in Columbian House Sunday, Dec. 4.

Boys Favor Dutch Dates, Girls Have Different Ideas

By Mary C. Johnson

• THE UNIVERSITY men seem to be in favor of "Dutch" dating but they had better not let the co-eds know it, if the opinions of the women interviewed last week are representative.

All of the men questioned accepted it as the best way out of a difficult situation, but the reaction of most of the women was an emphatic "I don't approve."

"Certainly," said Sydney Swiller, when the question was put to him. When a girl is employed and the couple is expected to take in an evening which would be quite expensive to the young man, he believes that the girl should make an attempt to pay for her part.

But Juanita Shafford said, "I do not like it. When I go out I expect the man to pay my way. Once you start it it doesn't work."

Coming back to the man's angle, Robert Kipp was afraid to answer the question, "being a student in psychology," but finally mustered courage enough to say that he was in favor of Dutch dates if the man can't afford dates otherwise and if the young lady is in school.

Miriam Weldie and Harold Midkiff came hurrying up the steps at that moment. "It is a good idea once in a while," said Miriam. "I think it is a good idea all of the time," cut in Harold. Miriam's sympathy was with the man who is financially unable to date often.

In the hall of Building D, Bob Newton scratched his head thoughtfully, said he thought it was a good idea, then called Pyke Johnson over for assistance. Pyke doesn't approve of Dutch dating. He thinks if the girl pays her own way she should pay his, too. Equal rights for men is his contention.

Interrupted in her conversation with Tommy Wilkins at the dining fountain, Jean Taylor said "I don't approve. It makes a woman lose her dependence on the man." She is afraid that if a woman becomes too independent she will lose the feeling that she has to please him.

Tommy obligingly put in his two cents worth, insisting that in Washington, where most of the young ladies are working, it is not such a bad idea.

"Dutch dating should be confined to sorority dances," said Hazel Beall looking up from her book. "There it is expected but at other times—never."

Jacqueline Owens and Beatrice Fleischman, relaxing in the doorway of Building D, debated the subject for a while, then both agreed that they didn't approve of Dutch dating because they felt that if a man asks a girl out he should have the money to take her.

Down in the student club Marianna Bortner and Loretta Schug were having some refreshments. Marianna surveyed the jimmies on her ice cream cone and said that it depended on how long the two have known each other, where they are going, and other circumstances. Loretta wouldn't approve to a very great extent but said that when a girl knows the man hasn't any money it is sometimes more fun to chip in and go some places.

"I personally prefer it to any other type of dating," said Bernard Ponoroff. The double standard, according to him, is evidently going out and he would help it along by advocating Dutch dating and putting the women on a par with the men.

The one man who held to the old standard was George Ray, who said, "I don't think much of it." He felt that if a man thinks enough of a girl to take her out she should not be expected to pay her half of the expenses.

Mary Gloria Morrison, also, said that she was definitely not in favor of it. Then, with a smile and a twinkle in her eye, she conceded that "it depends a little on the heart interest."

John Karns thinks Dutch dating is "awful," but the men will not give in, as we see by John Ehrmantraut, Douglas Davenport and C. F. Surba, who think that it is perfectly all right in a place like the University where, in most cases, both the men and the women are working and so few men have enough money to do all the things they would like.

Council

Esther Yanovsky, expressed her views on the controversial ruling by saying: "Any organizations of a cultural nature should be allowed to affiliate since they can benefit from contacts with outside groups."

Bill Wright, co-director of the Buff 'n' Blue Room, said: "They should have stopped after Rule 5."

Mickey Salkind, Program Director of the Symphony Club, said: "It is certainly unfortunate that serious students of music at the University can't participate in a national music contest because of Rule 6. This rule undeniably strikes at the very fundamental basis of a university."

Ward McCabe, chairman of the Liberal-Democratic Party, said that he didn't have any definite opinions on it, but "I think the Administration makes sufficient exceptions to it so it doesn't work injustices."

Serves Two Months

After having served a two months' sentence, he was released on a $10,000 bond, raised by relatives and friends. Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland, is said to have appealed to the State Department for aid for a graduate of the University, Dr. Lavine interned at Gallinger and the Peoples Hospital, New York City. Upon completion of graduate work at the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons, he practiced for several years in Mt. Rainier and the District of Columbia.

Cherry Tree Wants Senior Photographs

• SENIORS are urged to have their pictures taken for the Cherry Tree as soon as possible, at the Albee Studios, Albee Building, 15th and G Sts. N.W., Esther Yanovsky, Editor, announced last week.

Pictures may be taken every day except Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7-8:30 p.m. and on Sundays from 1-4 p.m.

Dead Line For Cherry Tree Pages Set

• "DECEMBER 15 is the deadline for contracts for pages in the Cherry Tree," Dee Shepherd, business manager, announced last week at a joint meeting of the Activities Council and the Cherry Tree Staff.

Contracts should be mailed to "The Cherry Tree, George Washington University," Shepherd stated, adding that many organizations have already returned their contracts as requested.

A committee, headed by John J. Philippen, of the Newman Club, and also including Helen Hoyem, of Orchesis; Allison Neal, of the Wesley Club, and Sally Steele, of the Cherry Tree Staff, was appointed by Frank Ford Burnett, Activities Council president, to look into the matter of an Activities Council page for the yearbook.

Fraternities and sororities are again reminded of their respective dates for their pictures. Shepherd stated, as again presented below:

Sunday, Dec. 11-Tuesday, Dec. 13: Theta Delta Chi, Delta Zeta, Phi Sigma Kappa, Kappa Delta, Delta Tau Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Mu Sigma.

Wednesday, Dec. 14-Saturday, Dec. 17: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Chi Omega, Sigma Nu, Acacia, Tau Alpha Omega.

Sunday, Dec. 18-Tuesday, Dec. 20: Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Delta Theta, Tau Sigma Rho, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Epsilon Pi, Phi Sigma Sigma, Tau Epsilon Phi.

Organizations should have their pictures taken on the days stated, except in unusual circumstances when other arrangements may be made with the Albee Studios, Albee Building, 15th and G streets.

ination basketball game and a dance on Saturday afternoon.

A mayhem engagement disguised as a ball game between the All-Stars and the Independents at the gym will open the activities at 1:45.

Immediately following the game, the audience will move over to Strong Hall, where the students may dance so that about 250 people will dance for joy on Christmas day.

Don Carmichael and his band will furnish the music for the dancing. Also tentatively on the entertainment program is the variety team of Cross and Dunn.

Services Donated

Both the orchestra and the entertainers are donating their services free of charge.

In opening the Food Drive, the committee stressed the importance of making the campaign a success. For several years the needy of Washington have gained some Christmas cheer through the generosity of the University students, and the committee does not want to let them down this year.

With the money collected and a menu in their hands, the committee goes to a merchant. He, in turn, puts up as many baskets that can be made from the funds. For that reason gifts of money are better than food, the committee said.

The complete committee follows:

All contributions of food, clothing and toys will be received by the Food Drive Committee in the Student Council Office in the basement of Building B.

Co-directors — Alice Miller and John Sullivan.

Campus Committee — Pauline Mossman, Chairman; Betty Musson, Dorothy Barr, Ann Peterson, Lucy Ohler, Pat O'Connor, Nancy Whittemore, Marjorie Albin, Rose Eileen Dobbin and Morgan Percy.

NYA Proves Great Aid To Students

• VALUABLE experience as well as financial assistance are now being provided 288 students of the University by the National Youth Administration, according to a recent announcement by Miss Myrna Sedgewick, University director of N. Y. A. aid.

Numerous tasks of great variety are now being performed under N. Y. A. funds, which give the student training for his prospective vocation, aid him to complete his education, and help the University. Virtually all departments of the University have assistants in secretarial or technical capacities.

The general practice in assigning students to positions is to have them work in the department in which they plan to major. Miss Sedgewick explained. However, there are many employed in the libraries and administrative offices.

In the science departments, students prepare the apparatus and materials for use by the classes, and also some are preparing charts and photographs for use in classroom and books.

In the social science and language departments stenographic work is the leading type. Students are also engaged in grading papers, in taking class roll, and in other special work such as making abstracts of books and carrying on research. Speech recording is handled by students in the public speaking department.

The average undergraduate earns $15 a month, and graduates from $20 to $30. The rate per hour is determined by the supervisor of the work.

In exceptional cases, when the opportunity for experience seems especially worthwhile, Miss Sedgewick has assigned students work outside the University. Some have worked in specialized organizations, such as with the Traffic Bureau in collecting data on accidents, or with specialized libraries or personnel agencies.

Though need is the main consideration in the allotment of the jobs, Miss Sedgewick pointed out that preference is now being given to those with high scholarship.

Junior Club Meets To Aid Food Drive

• A SPECIAL meeting of the Junior Club has been called for tomorrow at noon by Alice Miller, President.

Gathering in D-104, the organization will discuss plans for participating and aiding in the Food Drive, which is being conducted to make Christmas merrier for over 250 of Washington's needy families.

In the rebuttal, Mr. Beers predicted, "A time may come when it will be necessary for Democratic nations to stand together." In conclusion he pleaded that the U. S. and Great Britain stand together in the face of any difficulties which may arise.

Corker refuted Mr. Williams' statement that the United States was a signatory of the Versailles treaty. "The United States never signed this treaty," he said. Corker expressed the hope that if Great Britain and America meet again it will not be on the battlefield as in 1914.

Professor McIntyre of the Law School presided at the debate and acted as chairman of the open forum which followed the debate.

are definitely set for 1939. Georgetown is scheduled to play the Colonials in basketball March 8, 1939, and the two institutions will resume football relations Oct. 28, 1939, after a lapse of several years.

Intersections Not Abolished

Long-term athletic relationships with nearby eastern and southern universities will be encouraged, rather than one and two year agreements with major intersectional rivals. However, due to the cosmopolitan nature of the University student body, and location of alumni in every state, intersectional games will not be abolished, but will be limited to one or two games yearly with institutions in more remote sections of the country.

Largely due to Farrington's keen desire to give the student body opportunities to participate in minor sports, and his efforts in that direction, a varied number of intramural sports are available to them. Student participation in the intramural program of the athletic department has reached a new high. Never has there been so much interest in such minor sports as intramural basketball, touch football, volleyball, badminton, tennis and handball, such as exists here today, and much credit must be given to Max Farrington for the splendid progress made. However, the cooperation by Vinnie DeAngelis, student intramural director, has been a great help to the new University athletic head.

El Club Espanol Will Hear Dr. Adler

"This program will do more for International good-will than any number of political discussions involving different viewpoints," Constantini said. Admission is free and Constantini predicted a capacity crowd.

The Polish Club of Washington will present songs and dances of Poland, featuring the "Krakowiak," a native dance of Cracow.

Viennese Waltz

Cornelia Marie Baart of Holland and Otto DeKom of Roumania will dance a Viennese waltz. A Hungarian dance will be presented by Tatyana Gnoocher, and Francis Bernard will take the part of a cowboy from Idaho.

At a future meeting of the club, it has been announced, a demonstration of hypnosis will be made.

Buff Swimmers Give Peek At Paris Styles

Paul Wilson Wins 'Mural Swim Meet'

SPLASHING HIS WAY to victory in two events, and placing second in the other three, Paul Wilson won the Intramural Pentathlon Swimming Championship last Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. pool. Wilson, who also is swimming coach of Wilson High School, amassed a total of 43 points, leading his closest rival, Joe LaSalle, by nine points, who placed second with 34 points. Mordough Madden, just managed to beat out John Marshall for third place, by earning 25 points to 24 for Marshall.

Paul Wilson will receive the intramural swimming trophy, donated by the athletic department. Intramural medals will be awarded to Joe LaSalle and Mordough Madden. Eleven swimmers participated in the meet, which consisted of 50-yard breast stroke, 100-yard free style, 50-yard back stroke, and 50-yard medley relay, and low-board diving. The pentathlon was run off under the supervision of Vinnie DeAngelis, student intramural director.

Despite the lack of condition evidenced by some of the contestants, and the rapidity with which the races were held, fast times were made by the winners in all the four swimming events. Near perfect form was exhibited by John Marshall in the diving event, who won over his closest rival by seven points, as Marshall received 41 points out of a possible 48 for six dives.

Winners in the swimming races were as follows: 50-yard breast stroke, Lynn Lerch, 34.2; 100-yard back stroke, Paul Wilson, 34.3; 50-yard free style, Joe LaSalle, 27.4; 50-yard medley relay, Paul Wilson, 52.1.

Assisting DeAngelis is running off the swimming meet were "Tony" Tonkavitch, Ken Batson, and Murphy Booth. Art Mewshaw started the swimmers off, and Vic Turrou, J. Brawley, and E. Boggs, Y. M. C. A. official, were the timers.

Results Follow

Results of the different events are as follows: 50-yard breast stroke, Lynn Lerch, 34.2; Paul Wilson, 35.1; Joe LaSalle, 39.5; and John Marshall, 39.7. 100-yard back stroke, Paul Wilson, 34.3; Mordough Madden, 34.5; John Marshall, 35.0; and Joe LaSalle, 35.5. 50-yard free style, Joe LaSalle, 27.4; Mordough Madden and Paul Wilson tied for second, 27.6; and C. Spruitt and R. Barefield tied for third, 31.4; R. Little, 32.3. 50-yard medley relay, Paul Wilson, 52.1; Joe LaSalle, 58.8; Mordough Madden, 60.7; and John Marshall, 60.8. Diving, John Marshall, 41 points; Paul Wilson, 34 points; Joe LaSalle, 28 points; C. Spruitt, 24 points; and Mordough Madden, 20 points.

All-Star, Frat-Independents Fight For Food-Drive

(Ed. Note: Further details about the dance will be found on the Society page.)

FOR THE SAKE OF THE FOOD-DRIVE, All-Star Interfraternity and Men's Independents teams will settle their political differences on the basketball floor of the Tin Tabernacle, Saturday at 1:45 p.m. Irwin Nathanson, Chairman of the Special Events Committee of the 1938 Food-Drive, has arranged a big schedule for the afternoon. There will be a dance after the game, and price, including admission to both events, will be thirty-five cents stage and fifty cents drag. The entire proceeds will go to the Food-Drive.

2 Groups Pick Interfrat Team

Vic Sampson, Activities Chairman of the Interfraternity Council, and the Sports Staff of The "Hatchet" made the selections for the interfraternity team. Performance in the Interfraternity basketball play, now going on, was the factor by which the men were picked. These men are all outstanding players and should give a good account of themselves in Saturday's fracas. Line-up of the Interfraternity team is as follows: Forwards, "Cricket" King, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Marvin Faris, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; "Whitey" Lawson, Sigma Chi; Bob Robinson, Tau Sigma Rho; center, Cap Gardner, Kappa Alpha; guards, Jack Brown, Theta Delta Chi; Bob McConnell, Sigma Chi; Bill Bieser, Kappa Alpha; Larry Fretz, Sigma Nu; Paul Green, Sigma Phi Epsilon. Vic Sampson will coach the fraternity boys.

A complete line-up for the Independents has not been turned in yet, but, according to Phil Young, who is in charge of the team, there is going to be a top-notch squad on the floor for the unaffiliated group. Among the players of the players of the Independents' team will be Wayne Kniffin, Stan Segarish, Art Nowaskey, Howard McIntyre, Cliff Weir, Charles Gastrock, Laurence Seaver, and Young.

As previously hinted, there is a strong feeling of rivalry between the two groups represented. Individuals of both sides agreed that the teams will show plenty of fight in this game and winning this game will mean a particularly large feather in the hats of the victors.

By Mike Murray

If you are interested in seeing your particular champions come out on top, you had better get down here and give them some encouragement, and at the same time you will be seeing a swell game, doing a little rug-cutting, and, last but not least, helping to feed about two hundred and fifty needy families on Christmas Day. Let's get down to the old Tin Tabernacle next Saturday and see just what kind of a game the fellows are capable of putting up for their political group and the Food-Drive.

Buff Quint Meets Hoyas March 8; Freshmen To Play Hilltop Yearlings

Ping Pong Team In Play At American U

LAST SATURDAY afternoon four Colonial intra-mural ping-pong stars did their alma mater justice in an invitational tournament held at American University for the purpose of organizing inter-collegiate ping-pong in this territory.

The Colonials were ably represented by Don Surine, who went to the semi-finals, Bernie Blankin, Davy Johnson and Bob Fleming. Schools which were represented at the tournament were Georgetown, G. W., American, Columbus, Maryland, Wilson Teachers, Strayers and Gallaudet. Each school entered four players in the tournament and as Don Surine went to the semi-finals, he must be rated fourth in a group of thirty-four.

The tournament was successful from every aspect. Its main importance to the District of Columbia, however, is that if it is properly organized, its winners will be recognized by the United States Table Tennis Association.

Two Colonials On All-District Football Team

ALL-DISTRICT FOOTBALL selections by sports editors of the Star and the Post include a good representation of Buff gridders. Guy Renzaglia, at guard, and Bob Nowaskey, at end, placed on the first teams selected by both papers. In addition, Murphy Booth made the Star first backfield, but was not mentioned by the Post. Bob Nowaskey also rated national honors by being given honorable All-American mention by the Associated Press.

Shakeup In Interfrat Quint Race

THIS WEEK'S Interfraternity basketball competition finds a change in the lead of both leagues. Sigma Phi Epsilon was leading in League A until they ran against the Sigma Nu team and lost the top position to the other quintet. In League B Kappa Alpha and Sigma Chi were neck and neck, but the Sigma Chi's won out by defeating K. A. in a very rough game.

In the Sigma Phi Epsilon-Sigma Nu game, the score was almost even all the way. Sigma Nu was leading 8 to 7 at the half, but the score was tied up at 8 to 8 for most of the third quarter. In the final minutes of play, Sigma Nu led with a score of 23 to 22. They clinched the game with two long field goals in the last minute. This gave the Sigma Nu team a record of three wins and no losses, having defeated Tau Kappa Epsilon earlier in the week by a score of 24 to 5. These five points that the T. K. E. made were on free throws, Sigma Nu not allowing them a single field goal.

Sigma Chi took their game with Kappa Alpha 20 to 14 after trailing the K. A.'s all the first half. Previously, the Sigma Chi team had scored a victory over Tau Sigma Rho 23 to 17. Wednesday they preserved their record by winning over Kappa Sigma 36 to 19. In the other League A games Theta Delta Chi beat Tau Kappa Epsilon 11 to 9, while Phi Sigma Kappa received a forfeit from Acadia. In League B, Tau Sigma Rho defeated Kappa Alpha 16 to 13. Sigma Alpha Epsilon won two games last week, beating Kappa Sigma 19 to 13 and Delta Tau Delta 28 to 17.

Standings of the teams are:

League A	W	L
Sigma Nu	3	0
Sigma Phi Epsilon	2	1
Theta Delta Chi	2	1
Tau Kappa Epsilon	1	2
Phi Sigma Kappa	1	2
Acadia	0	3
League B	W	L
Sigma Chi	3	0
Tau Sigma Rho	2	1
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	2	1
Kappa Alpha	1	2
Delta Tau Delta	1	2
Kappa Sigma	0	3

Varsity To Meet Bulldogs

STILL HANDICAPPED by the loss of their star, high-scoring center, Jack Buterworth, the Colonials face two games in a row with Clemson and The Citadel next Friday and Saturday nights at Tech High gym.

Coach Bill Reinhart, is forced to build his offensive around big Bruce Borum and Eddie Amendola. Whether the quint can function until next January, when Buterworth will rejoin the squad, without the services of their pivot man, who is invaluable due to his court experience, and ability to take the ball on the rebound off the backboard, remains to be seen.

Clemson Plays 3 Local Schools

Clemson moves into town next Thursday, playing three games in three days, meeting Maryland, G. W., and Catholic U. The Tigers, who were runners-up last year in the Southern Conference Basketball League, dropped a close decision to Tennessee Saturday night to the tune of 29 to 24. Leading the Tigers offense is Banks "Daddy Long Legs" McFadden, six-foot two center, who was All Southern Conference forward last year. Gene Flatham and Bob Moorman, forwards, and Jack Bryce and Wister Jackson, guards, comprise the probable Clemson starting line-up.

Despite their opening loss to Tennessee, the Tigers, under Coach Joe Davis, will present strong opposition to the Colonials, who will be out to avenge the 27-0 loss to the Clemson football team this past season. Last year the Tigers had a record of 14 victories, and six defeats.

Buff Plays Citadel Saturday

The Citadel, another newcomer to the Buff schedule, invades Tech High Saturday night. The Light Brigade, under Coach A. W. Norment, who is out of 17 contests played last year.

The probable Colonial starting line-up will be George Carber and Bob Faris at forward; Sid Silkowitz and Elmer "Biff" Borden at guards, and Eddie Amendola at center. Although he is only a sophomore, Amendola has shown much promise in his play to date, will probably earn starting assignments, until Jack Buterworth is able to return to action.

Farrington Announces Policies

By Tom McCall

MAX FARRINGTON, who will become director of athletics Feb. 1, 1939, has certain ambitions regarding the athletic policy of the University. He said, "I would like to get representative schedule in all sports and play them over periods of time to build up rivalries that the student body and alumni would look forward to. I would like to see a new sports building built in order to give the student body a rallying place and put over the physical education program."

Regarding the intramural program, Farrington stated, "we are not contemplating the addition of any new intramural sports for some time, and we are satisfied to put over three or four sports each semester." Farrington also cited the fact that the gym was used every day from nine in the morning till ten at night, except Sunday. "We are doing all that we possibly can now with the facilities we have. We need an adequate building to provide additional facilities."

Max, a genial, athletic-type man, doesn't look all the 35 years he will be next month. He is happily married and has two fine young sons. He was wed Dec. 27, 1932, to the former Lydia Wilson, who was secretary to University Comptroller Charles W. Holmes, for several years. Max, junior is two years old, and Thomas, five months.

Max began his athletic career at Aurora High School, Aurora, Mo., where he participated in varsity football, baseball, and tennis. He also starred at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., winning major letters in track, tennis, baseball and football. During this time he was coached by Jim Pixlee, who later became athletic director here at G. W. Max graduated from Westminster in 1927. Coach Pixlee thought so much of young Farrington, that he added him to his coaching staff as assistant football coach. Two years later, in 1929, when Pixlee came to G. W. U. to take charge of the athletic department, he brought Max along as his assistant. Last year he held the badminton championship of the District, and now shares the doubles championship with Joe Baker.

Cagers Lose First To O. S. U.

GEORGE WASHINGTON University's basketball team, opening its 1938 season, was beaten by the sharpshooting Buckeyes of Ohio State last Saturday night by the score of 43-37.

The guards of the Buff team were unable to stop the spectacular one-hand shots of Jimmy Hull, Buckeye captain, as he rang up 19 points on nine field goals and one foul shot, to take high-scoring honors for the evening.

Faris And Amendola Lead

Bob Faris and Eddie Amendola were the big guns for the Buff team, Faris making 11 points, and Amendola tallying nine. Bob Faris, the high scorer for the Colonial quint, was held in close check throughout the game, and when he did break away a number of his shots hit the hoop and rolled off.

The Buckeyes displayed a tight zone defense, which the Buff and Blue were unable to break up, and the Colonials were forced to make a majority of their points on long shots from far out on the floor.

The ragged passing of the George Washington team was a major factor in their defeat, many of their attempts being intercepted by the alert Buckeyes, who presented a quint vastly superior to the one which fell before the Colonials here last year.

Ohio State led 24 to 18 at the half and midway in the second half the Buckeyes held a substantial twelve point advantage, which was cut down considerably by a series of free throws which the Colonials made good. Biff Borden contributed three of them, Sid Silkowitz added one more, which Bob Faris followed up with a two pointer from the floor, but the Buffmen were still unable to overcome the large Buckeye lead.

In addition to the twenty points which Bob Faris and Eddie Amendola garnered between them, Sid Silkowitz got five points before he was relieved by Bruce Borum; Biff Borden and George Carber rang up four apiece, Arnold Auerbach sank three and Dave Osborne netted one to complete the Colonial scoring.

Hold Lead Once

Bob Faris started the scoring for the Buffmen, making a foul shot in the first minute, then Lynch countered with a two pointer for the host team, but Faris put the Colonials back in the lead with a short. That was the only time the George Washington team held a lead in the first half, however, as Buckeye Captain Jimmy Hull made the first two of seven baskets he rang up in the first half.

Eddie Amendola, playing his first varsity game, substituted for Borum and kept the visitors in the running in the initial stanza with three long set shots. Bob Faris played an excellent game for the Buff and Blue, breaking up several Buckeye plays, and sparking the Colonial offense. Sid Silkowitz also displayed some clever guarding.

FINAL NEGOTIATIONS for the Georgetown-George Washington basketball game this season has been completed, the athletic department announced early today, and the two institutions will resume athletic relations for the first time in several years on March 8, 1939, when both teams complete their current basketball schedules. In addition, two games between the Colonial and Hoya freshman basketball teams have been scheduled for this season.

Other varsity sports, such as tennis and baseball, will be engaged in between the two rivals, with the possibility that a Colonial-Hoya freshman baseball game will be played in 1940, and a varsity game in 1941, providing that this sport has been re-established here at the time.

This is in keeping with the new policy of the Athletic Department, under Director Max Farrington, to encourage long-term athletic relations with nearby eastern and southern institutions, rather than scheduling several inter-sectional games between rivals every year. Previously the date for the 1939 football game between Georgetown and George Washington had been set for Oct. 28.

SIDELINE SLANTS...

by TIMOTHY

STILL HARPING on school spirit, or rather the lack of it, this is a typical comment heard around the University. Vic Sampson, activities chairman of the interfraternity council, is moaning about the small number of spectators that come down to watch the interfraternity basketball games. It only costs a dime, ten cents, to gain admission to these games, and the close games, spirited play, and pleasure derived by both players and onlookers is more than worth the mere pittance charged. Referee's salary, cost of trophies, and other items makes it necessary to levy an admission fee. Come on Greeks, let's see more support to your teams for the remainder of the season.

Besides being given honorable mention on the Associated Press All-American Football team and the AP All-Eastern team, Bob Nowaskey, star Colonial left end, impressed the Mississippi players so much that the Rebels picked Bob on their all-opponent team.

Although receiving the award are Bob Faris, Vic Sampson, Hal Schlering, Guy Renzaglia, Izzie Weinberg, and Frank Merka. According to Schlering, president of the Varsity Club, the annual election of officers will be held soon. The club will also adopt a new formal initiation program.

Frosh Pile Up Score In Trial Scrimmage

AN AGGRESSIVE defense and a "fast-breaking" attack were featured by the freshman basketball team last Thursday afternoon as it piled up 79 points against Western High School at the loser's gym in an informal scrimmage. Western scored 26 tallies.

Though they got off to a slow start, as Western grabbed a four-point lead, the Frosh overtook the team from Georgetown and scored practically at will from every angle and with every type shot to build up a very comfortable margin. Leading the offense were Paul Brief, Pat Deming, and Matt Zunie with 22, 16 and 12 points, respectively. Bobby Gilham, a handy-legged guard, was pace-setter on the defense.

The services of Abe Rivkin, a promising freshman from New York, are very doubtful, due to an appendectomy last week.

The two games for the Colonial-Hoya freshman basketball games have been set for Jan. 9 and Feb. 9, 1939. The Georgetown yearlings play their first game with G. W. at home, as a preliminary to the Georgetown-Temple basketball game, and the Colonial frosh home game will be played as a warm-up to the George Washington-Washington and Jefferson contest. If neither team has won both games after the second meeting, a third game between the two frosh-quints will be played on March 8, as a preliminary to the Georgetown-G. W. U. varsity tilt.

Both teams appear to have strong lines this year, and the season finale may find the two rival quints boasting winning streaks, one of which necessarily would be ended after the game was finished.

Football Stars Get Honors

Sacrifice A Soda

The committee workers of the Food Drive sacrifice much more than just a soda. They give freely of their time and their efforts—in short—they do plenty of good old-fashioned hard work.

We ask you to sacrifice a soda or some other small needless item and contribute these few cents to the Food Drive. Those few cents can go a long way in helping us to accomplish our purpose—namely, to fill food baskets for over 200 needy families.

In making your contribution remember the purpose for which you are giving. Give as freely as your circumstances will permit and whether your contribution be large or small, feel assured that you have helped.

Law Book Is Edited By McIntire

• "MUNICIPALITIES and the Law in Action," a recent publication, was edited by Prof. John A. McIntire, a member of the faculty of the George Washington University Law School. Professor McIntire teaches Municipal Corporations at the Law School, the subject with which the book is primarily concerned. The assistant editor is Mr. Charles S. Rhyne, a recent honor graduate of the George Washington University Law School and a former student editor of the George Washington University Law Review.

This volume is presented by the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, of which Professor McIntire is the Executive Director, and sets forth municipal law in action as seen by active city attorneys on the firing line.

Among the many interesting papers presented are a greeting by the Attorney General of the United States, Homer S. Cummings, and an opening address by Dean William C. Van Vleet, Dean of the George Washington University Law School.

The scope of the publication is wide and includes such timely and vital topics as "Slum Clearance and the United States Housing Act" by Leon H. Keyserling; "Local Taxation for Relief," by William C. Chanler; "Scientific Methods of Prosecuting Drunken Drivers," by Walter J. Mattison, and "Tort Liability of a Municipality," by Raymond J. Kelly.

Also covered in the volume are discussions on Taxation, Municipal Law, Democracy, Housing, Federal, State and City Relations, Ordinances and Ordinance Enforcement, Tort Liability, Public Utilities, and Municipal Contracts.

Among the important issues covered in the Taxation discussions are the Amusement Tax, Documentary Stamp Tax, Automobile Parking Lot Tax, Highway Privilege Tax, City Sales Tax, Use Tax, and Utility Tax on Consumers. New sources of Revenue, Relief Revenue, Tax Limitations and the tax systems of large cities such as New York and Philadelphia are also thoroughly torn apart and put together again.

The Housing problem as introduced and discussed includes Slum Clearance, Demolition, Vacation, Repair of Substandard Buildings, and Equivalent Elimination.

Papers were presented on the P.W.A., T.V.A. and R.F.C. in connection with both Public Utilities and Federal, State and City Relations meetings.

Municipal Tort Liability was presented in detail, Immunity or Reasonability, Procedures to Prevent Fraudulent Claims, and the Attitude of Municipal Law Officers on the subject all being thrashed out in forum discussion and in speeches prepared and presented by prominent men in the field.

"Municipalities and the Law in Action" incorporates the proceedings of the national midyear meeting of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers held at the Mayflower Hotel during the past summer and will be volume No. 1 in a series of volumes reporting the proceedings of the Institute under this title.

siring to learn and to do creative theatrical work should do so with the Washington Civic Theater. As one who has been in this organization for three years, I can testify to its value. For example, one who joins the Civic Theater group has the advantage of professional direction and instruction in plays that are truly worth doing.

This might be a partial solution of the current situation.

Second Thought

he intended to wind up his very useful life at reporting. He replied, "Certainly, what else is there to do for one who has spent more than a quarter of a century working for newspapers?" His nerves seemed bad to me, and he gave the impression, by his actions, that he needed a long, quiet rest with nothing to bother him.

Then came last Tuesday and a maid discovered him in his garage with a piece of hose and a running motor. Upon her pleadings he returned to the house and told her he was going to end it all.

A bottle was found upstairs in his home. Most of the sleeping pills were missing. A strange suicide, indeed.

Paul Anderson is dead, but one can hardly believe a statement he made just before his death:

"My usefulness is at an end." He had done so much good work in his line that even he did not know what it was worth.

ENGINEERS

• IN CASE you haven't noticed, those dazed fellows wandering around the campus are engineering students worrying about the pre-holiday exams. But in spite of their generally depressed condition, a bit of activity is evident. Not violent activity, of course, but enough to keep the fellows awake.

• THETA TAU has properly spanked and admitted as members three engineering students, namely: Harry Wright, Kemper Sullivan, and Leonal Brennaman. Just think, only three pledges to catch all the punishment. Boy, can't those old grads wield a paddle! But they had one consolation—a banquet followed the initiation.

• SIGMA TAU will stir into activity this Wednesday by holding their semi-monthly meeting at 7 p.m. in D-204. We have been receiving inquiries whether Sigma Tau's tutoring service includes taking exams for worried freshmen. I don't think so, fellows.

• NEXT SATURDAY, the E. E. students will cut loose at a Christmas party to be held at the farm of George Lohnes' brother in Virginia. Dutch-treat of course. Anyone interested in attending may meet the rest of the group on the engineering balcony at 7 p.m. Saturday. In case you are overlooked, yell out for Ira Jones or Bob Beatty.

• WE HAVE a flock of Engineering Ball tickets that you may have at $1.75 each until January 15. Better put in a reservation for your dancing space now. The faculty will tell your best girl what a swell fellow you are, when you introduce her.

• THE A. S. M. E. will meet on Wednesday in D-200 at 8 p.m. with a wholehearted welcome for any engineer that may care to attend. The program will include a series of student talks followed by a period of discussion. Ed Lane reports that the current issue, as well as previous issues of "Mechanical Engineering" will be distributed to members at the meeting. Please attend for student talks are generally well prepared and well presented.

• THE A. S. C. E. will meet on Wednesday in Cor 11 at 8:20 p.m. with Mr. J. A. Carney, as the principal speaker. Mr. Carney, who is Chief Engineer of R.F.C., will speak on professional and financial aspects of engineering, and will develop their application to a particular project of the R.F.C., namely the Trans Pennsylvania Toll Super Highway. The speaker, who is noted for his experience on huge engineering works, is an excellent speaker. Harry Wright extends a personal invitation to those who are interested in attending.

• THE BOYS in Electric Transmission are suffering from a new affliction, known as Woodruff. It appears to be somewhat akin to dandruff—it gets in your hair! • WE'LL BE seeing you on the balcony at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Locraft, a specialist in the field of architectural design, will speak on "Architecture and its History."

The meeting will be followed by a Christmas Grab-Bag Party.

Medical Group Hears Speaker

• "THE PSYCHONEUROSES and the Practice of Medicine" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Karl A. Menninger of Topeka, Kans., at the next Smith-Reed-Russell meeting in Hall A of the Medical School at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Members of the Medical School Faculty will meet in the faculty room to greet the visiting doctor prior to the lecture.
